Pope Pius Grows Extremely Weak Report Of Doctors

Practically All Church Affairs Are Suspended Due To Illness

RECOVERY CHANCES OF POPE ARE SMALL

Nothing "Further Can Be Done By Science" Is Report From Vatican City

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 28.—Pope Pius grew "extremely weak" today in his battle for life against a series of ailments and old age, and his doctors decided his chances of recovery "cannot be increased by science."

A high medical authority revealed to International News Service that the 79-year-old pontiff's physicians had found they apparently are unable to halt progress of the pope's numerous afflictions.

While the Vatican grew more somber over the pope's condition and the historically rare step of suspending virtually all church affairs was taken, it was learned the pope's present illness, which began December 2, commenced with a stroke.

Effect Of Old Age.

The medical authority disclosed to International News Service that the pope was found lying in a faint on the floor of his bedroom.

The pope's organism is gradually succumbing to old age, it was stated, despite repeated administering of stimulants.

Detour marks on the Pennsylvania Highway Detour bulletin are becoming fewer and fewer, Pa. News notes. If it was not for the marks denoting the spots where bridges which were washed out in the flood last spring and have not been replaced, the red detour and construction hazard marks on the bulletin would be mighty few. Information as to construction detours and hazards are contained in the bulletin for the period ending January 8, which is posted in the lobby of The News.

Believe it or not, the temperature here yesterday was higher than it was in California. According to reports emanating from the Pacific coast, it rained there yesterday and the mercury dropped to 40 degrees. It was much warmer than that here.

To Pa. News's desk today came a letter from Sidney Taylor, 127 East Long avenue, which said, in part: "We have a little girl who was a year old on Sunday, December 27. She started getting teeth at five and a half months of age and several weeks ago she had run the total up to 12. She has eight single teeth and four double ones."

City Council Approves Street Lighting Contract

Council conveyed in the city building today and approved a five years contract, dating from January 1, 1937, between the Pennsylvania Power company and the city for street lighting.

The contract is subject to the approval of the public service commission.

On December 10, council adopted a resolution, which authorizes the contract in accordance with a revised schedule whereby the city will have 1,678 lights at a cost of $66,720, instead of 1,618 lights at a cost of $65,214.20, at present.

The candlepower will be 652,250, as compared to 619,050, at present, an increase of 5 4-10 percent in candlepower for an additional cost of $125.00, per month, or 2 3-10 percent.

After the resolution was adopted December 10, City Solicitor William G. Cobau studied the legality of the contract and reported today it was satisfactory after which it was approved unanimously.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Angered by Adolf Hitler's snub when the Reichsfuehrer ignored the French and British notes asking effective non-intervention in Spain, France has proposed the drastic plan of an Anglo-French naval blockade of Spain.

It was learned today, Soviet Russia supports the sensational French scheme, and it will be brought up before a sub-committee of the 27-power non-intervention committee, composed of naval attaches to major embassies, on Thursday.

To Halt Volunteers
Plainly illustrating urgency of the entire crisis, the foreign office disclosed that Britain and France had requested "immediate" replies from Berlin, Rome, Lisbon, and Moscow to their joint notes asking that steps be taken to halt forthwith further participation of foreign "volunteers" in the Spanish war.

Up to noon today no replies had been received, the foreign office commented solemnly.

The French blockade scheme was first discussed informally with Britain, when French diplomats surveyed the possibility of setting up a joint naval barrier to keep Germany from sending so-called "volunteers" to fight for the Spanish rebels.

France, it was stated, is prepared to keep any more volunteers from reaching Spain via French territory if blockade is agreed on, and wants Britain to bring pressure on Portugal to take similar action. That would cut off all means of ingress to Spain by land, and the (Continued On Page Two)

Seek Reopening Of Crossing Case Before State Body

Petition From Citizens Opposes Action Allowing Watchmen To Be Eliminated

Council met in the city building today and received a petition signed by 250 persons who asked that the city ask that the Public Service commission allow the reopening of cases in which the commission issued orders that members of train crews could guard the South Mill street and Moravia street P. & L. E. railroad crossings. As yet it is not known if the city legally has a basis to make the request. However, the solicitor is investigating the case.

Under orders of the commission the discontinuance of a watchman was allowed at South Mill and Moravia street crossings. However, the commission ordered that all trains and cars must stop before going over the crossings then only at a rate of four miles an hour speed.

The ruling gave sanction to have a member of a train crew use a red flag at day and a white light at night at the Moravia street crossing. The commission also decided that the crossing gates in South Mill street are to be equipped with a red lantern at night, on each gate, and must be lowered and raised by a member of a train crew before any train movement across the street can be made.

Councilman Joseph Alexander urged that the case be reopened if possible. The city solicitor, William G. Cobau, said he did not know at this time if the city had any real basis upon which to go before the commission for a reopening of the case but would investigate.

It was stated that if the situation became worse a new charge could be made by the city.

Germany Blames Russia For Crisis In Spanish War

HITLER WILLING TO AID ARMISTICE

Conditions Are Imposed For Cooperation Of Germany, However

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler is willing to cooperate with Great Britain and France in attempting to obtain an armistice in Spain and solution of the "volunteers" problem provided London and Paris guarantee complete cessation of "Soviet intervention" in the Spanish war, International News Service learned in high quarters today.

Russia, and not Germany, is the real culprit in the Spanish crisis according to the German view, and definite annoyance was shown by high officials that Britain and France should have warned Germany so strongly on the "volunteers" issue.

Germany, it was disclosed, considers seizure of the German merchant vessel Palos by Spanish Loyalists an important matter but one apart from the "general Spanish situation," and as a result will not allow it to interfere with the regular negotiations for settlement of the international aspects of the Spanish conflict.

May Claim Tempests
This stand was expected to calm tempests brewing in foreign capitals over fear the Reich would use the Palos incident for action likely to spread the war beyond the Iberian Peninsula.

Will Force Man To Eat His Food

(International News Service)
WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 28.—Forced feeding was prescribed by a physician today for 43-year-old S. J. Bris, owner of a south Wheeling beer garden, who has eaten nothing since his wife, shot by burglars, died in his arms six days ago.

Bris has refused food and medicine and is becoming very weak, according to his brother, Thomas J. Bris. Concern was expressed for his life by Dr. E. S. Bippus, who advocated he be forcibly fed.

Last Wednesday, Bris' wife, Anna, 40, was shot down by two intruders, still at large, when she surprised them in her husband's beer garden below their apartment.

Two Meet Death, Houseboat Burns

(International News Service)
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Dec. 28.—Two men were burned to death today and a shepherd dog was rescued when flames, which for a time menaced gasoline storage tanks nearby, swept an old houseboat tied up at the waterfront.

The victims were Albert F. Sanborn, 65, retired sailor, and Ernest C. Parkhurst, 46, who offered to attend Sanborn after he was stricken with a heart attack.

Cause of the fire was undetermined.

MADRID, Dec. 28.—Great Britain today ordered its Madrid embassy closed as soon as possible, following the move the United States made several weeks ago.

As new fighting broke out around the capital and the shell-wrecked, widely-ruined city faced further destruction, Britain ordered that all persons living as refugees in the embassy evacuate it by Wednesday.

G. A. D. Ogilvie-Forbes, counselor of the embassy, will establish a new embassy at Valencia, on the eastern seaboard where the Loyalist government now has its headquarters.

Plane Missing Since About 7 O'Clock Last Night—Fear Disaster

Report This Afternoon Indicates Plane Wrecked And All Passengers Killed

(International News Service)
BURBANK, Cal., Dec. 28.—A report that the missing United Air Lines plane was found crashed with all twelve persons aboard probably dead was received at Union Air Terminal here today by United Air Lines officials from R. E. Dickinson, president of the Santa Paula Airport Association.

Dickinson reported that he found the big air liner on a ridge two miles west of Saugus. He said he was flying his own plane when he saw the wrecked ship below him. He said it was "scattered all over the ridge."

Saugus is about 30 miles from the terminal here, where the missing plane was supposed to land. The ridge mentioned by Dickinson is high in the Tehachapi range over which the plane disappeared in heavy weather early today.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—While a virtual aerial armada was ready to take off in search of a missing United Air Lines transport plane, with 12 persons aboard, the first definite clue to the overdue liner came from a rancher in the mountainous country near Simi, 30 miles west of the airport.

The rancher reported that he heard a crash and that his lights and radio went out last night (Continued On Page Nine)

Young Massachusetts Slayer Jailed On Murder Charge By Police

(International News Service)
REVERE, Mass., Dec. 28.—Defending himself, his mother and his two sisters, Charles Karpenko, 19, today shot and killed his father, Ewey Karpenko, 42, with a pistol as the latter brandished a shotgun, he told police. The shooting climaxed a family argument.

"My father came out of the bedroom with a shotgun," Charles told Patrolmen John Roach and Fred McDonough. "He said to me, 'Stand up there and take it.' I fired at him then. I was certain if I didn't he would have killed me and then my mother and my sisters."

After the shot, the father turned around, staggered into the bedroom, and collapsed across the bed.

Police were notified after Dr. Henry Nigro, summoned by telephone, pronounced the elder Karpenko dead.

Charles was held on a charge of murder.

Report Fighting On Five Fronts In Spanish War

LOYALISTS HOLD GERMAN SHIP

Charge Ship Was Carrying Arms To Rebels—Will Not Release It

MADRID, Dec. 28.—Fighting on a tremendous scale, with nearly one thousand leftists reported slain, broke out on five fronts today as Madrid defiantly backed up the anarchists holding the German ship Palos at Bilbao.

Under one of the most destructive artillery bombardments of the civil war, rebels invaded Madrid east of the Casa de Campo sector, but were repelled after the loyalists reorganized. South of Madrid the loyalists penetrated half a mile in the Carabanchel Bajo district, but, according to the broadcast of Gep. Queipo de Llano at Deville, the rebels dislodged loyalists from strong positions near Villavieja, killed 72 rebels.

Report Large Casualties
Lisbon dispatches said 768 loyalists were killed and 431 wounded when three rebel columns on the southern front advanced 30 miles from Pedro Abad, Bujalanca, and Procuna.

Madrid spokesmen meanwhile, scoring German demands for release of the Palos, felt that seizure of the ship, allegedly carrying arms to the rebels, involved no threat of open declaration of war by Germany.

The Basques who hold the Palos have no intention of liberating the vessel, it was stated here. She carried 1500 tons of war material (Continued On Page Five)

Cold Wave Will End Balmy Spell

Spring-like Weather Of Past Few Days Due To End Today Is Forecast

Balmy spring-like weather, which has spread over the district for three days now is due to come to an end today, U. S. Weather forecasters warn, but the pleasant weather has been enjoyed by many, in spite of the fact that it led many to expose themselves, rashly, and will probably result in an epidemic of colds.

The high mark was reached yesterday afternoon, when warm sunshine forced the mercury up to 65 degrees, near summer heat. Rain chilled the atmosphere during the afternoon, and the temperature had dropped to 37 degrees at nine o'clock this morning, and was still falling.

It was a decided contrast to conditions which were experienced here a year ago, when the mercury rose to 5 degrees, after having been down as low as six below on the day preceding.

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 28.—Led by G-men, posses of state and city police and deputy sheriffs at daybreak today surrounded a deep gully at the base of a bluff below the home of Dr. W. W. Mattson, wealthy physician whose 10-year-old son, Charles, was kidnaped last night by a masked gunman, believed to be a dope fiend.

The posses began beating the underbrush, covering the steep incline from the Mattson home to the Puget Sound waterfront in the belief the kidnaper and his victim might be concealed there.

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 28.—G-men arrived here by plane today from Portland and Seattle and immediately took up two trails in the manhunt for the kidnaper of Charles Mattson, 10, who was snatched last night from the home of his rich parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Mattson.

The first trail led to the Puget Sound which is only a stone's throw from the $75,000 Mattson mansion. The second trail led inland.

TO CONSIDER COAL PROBLEMS

Coal Operators To Meet Tuesday

Will Look Over Troubled Industry And Plan For Future, To Discuss Ills

NEW CONTRACTS BY MARCH FIRST

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—Major soft coal operators gathered at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., tomorrow to look over a troubled industry and to plan for the future.

The two major subjects are: New coal legislation to replace the invalidated Guffey Act and the substitute act which died in the senate.

The matter of new wages and hour contracts with the United Mine Workers to replace old contracts expiring next March. A strike has been threatened if new contracts are refused.

Divided On Proposal
Considerable opposition to proposals for federal regulation of the industry has developed among the operators. On the other hand, many of the operators favor legislation along the line of the Guffey Act, and will voice a vigorous plea for congressional enactment of some such legislation.

A bitter conflict is already brewing over the new contracts. Among the situation tense as it is today, John L. Lewis, president of the Mine Workers, has just imposed a special assessment upon union members calculated to bring in a million dollars cash. When he sent out the call for this special assessment, Lewis announced frankly that he felt the money should be provided "in case of idleness."

Ready For Walkout
This latest move of Lewis means that, unless the operators are willing to negotiate new contracts satisfactory to the workers, the union is ready and determined to call a general walkout.

Despite these ominous signs the operators have already begun chafing over the old contracts, and have served notice they want new ones a little more favorable to the mine owners. They have revealed that, when the old contracts, giving the men a 35 hour week, expire in March, they will ask for contracts calling for 40 hours for the same wages paid for the 35 hour week.

Meet In Two Months
Two months hence the operators must meet mine worker officials in New York City to begin the work of drafting the new agreements.

Members of congress will watch carefully developments at the White Sulphur meeting dealing with coal legislation. There are half a dozen substitutes for the Guffey Act in draft form on Capitol Hill here already, but congressional leaders felt that the operators may be able to perfect even further proposals for federal regulation of the soft coal industry in the interest of stability, fair wages and hours.

Assisting with the service were Rev. Merrill Cadwell, Dr. John Jamison McIlvaine, Dr. Harold A. McCurdy and Dr. Charles B. Wingard, pastors of leading local churches.

The service was arranged under the direction of John H. Templeton, trustee master of the New Castle Lodge of Perfection, assisted by his corps of officers, consisting of William E. TACOMA BOY IS KIDNAPED FROM HIS HOME learned the masked kidnaper had left a ransom note demanding $18,000.

Charles was playing on the sun porch with his sister, Muriel, 14, and Alice Chaffield, a friend, when the kidnaper entered, menacing them with a gun.

The girls screamed when the intruder grabbed Charles, a boy 4 feet 6 inches, under his arm and backed out of the room.

He fled through a back door, the same through which he entered.

He ran down a brick terrace and steps to the paved street below the house. Several paths from the street lead down a steep incline to the waterfront.

Whether he made his escape across the sound or jumped into a waiting automobile was still to be solved by the G-men.

Every inch of the ground surrounding the Mattson mansion was combed for clues, especially footprints.

Important Clue
G-men believed they were furnished an important clue by Charles' brother, Robert, 16, who reported he heard no car start away from the house.

As accurately as they could determine after interviewing Charles' sister, Miss Chaffield, Robert, and the kidnapped boy's parents, G-men believed the abduction occurred at 8:47 p. m.

The agents rehearsed the kidnapping scene with Muriel and Miss Chaffield until the entire picture had been re-created.

Both girls screamed when the gunman, described generally as "middle aged," entered the sun porch.

Although Dr. and Mrs. Mattson, attending a social function in another part of the huge home, rushed to the sun porch, the kidnaper was gone with his victim.

Note Is Found

On the floor of the porch was the kidnaper's ransom demand. He had thrown the note at the feet of Muriel who was still too terrified to read it.

Dr. Mattson immediately telephoned police headquarters. The F. B. I. headquarters in Washington, D. C., promptly was notified and Chief Edgar Hoover ordered men from his Portland and Seattle offices to the scene.

A description of Charles was flashed over state police teletype systems.

He was wearing a blue sports shirt, a blue sweater, knickers and sea fur slippers. He was blond, curly hair and blue eyes.

The kidnaper's description was vague, Charles' sister and Miss Chaffield said he apparently was middle-aged. He wore a mask and his light cap was pulled low over his eyes. Only the lower part of his jaw, stubbled by a beard, was visible. He wore a blue jacket and dark trousers.

The Mattson home is only a few blocks from the state mansion, Haddaway Hall, part of the estate of the late J. P. Weyerhaeuser, lumber magnate and grandfather of George Weyerhaeuser, who in May 1935 nine-year-old was snatched by William Mahan and Harmon and Margaret Waley while he was returning from school.

The kidnapped youth is a classmate of George Weyerhaeuser. Like George, who was safely returned following his harrowing experience of being shackled in a hole by his abductors, Charles is an unusually bright boy.

Friends of the Mattson family and one of his school-teachers praised him highly.

"He is an extremely intelligent youth," they said. "He will know what to do in an emergency. He is a lovable boy and nobody could harm him unless their heart was malignant and blackened."

Efforts to contact Dr. Mattson or his wife at their home met with failure.

G-men traced all incoming calls to the home.

Servants gave polite but firm replies to inquiries for the doctor and Mrs. Mattson.

"I'm sorry but the doctor and Mrs. Mattson are unavailable," came the repeated response.

Contents of the ransom note were closely guarded and reports previous demands had been made upon Dr. Mattson in extortion notes, threatening the kidnapping of Charles, his favorite son, elicited no comment from the F. B. I. investigators.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. John A. Brua.

Mrs. Dorothy Bowland Brua, wife of John A. Brua, of New Sheffield, Pa., died in a Pittsburgh hospital yesterday of injuries received in an automobile accident on Christmas day.

Mrs. Brua's husband, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brua, East Brook residents, and her two children, Audrey 7, and Jack 5, were also badly hurt in the accident, and are hospital patients.

Mrs. Brua's body has been removed to the Armour funeral home, 867 Fifth avenue, Coraopolis, and funeral services will be conducted there on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Valley cemetery, Imperial, Pa.

Mrs. Rose Groves.
It is with deep regret that many New Castle friends learn of the death of Mrs. Rose Groves, aged 76 years, who passed away at her home in Evans City on Sunday morning at 5:30 o'clock, following an illness.

The deceased was born in Evans City April 6, 1860. Her husband, Sidney M. Groves, preceded her in death 20 years ago. She leaves five children, Mrs. Albert Little of Canton, O., Mrs. Paul D. Kradle of Harrisburg, Pa., Mrs. N. M. Joseph of New Castle, William and Ogil of Evans City. She leaves seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

She was a faithful member of the Evans City Baptist church and a mobile Christian, with a lovable disposition which won her many friends.

Funeral services will be held from the residence in Evans City Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Elizabeth Collier.
Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Collier, age 79 years, who passed away at her home on Fifty-Second street, Pittsburgh, Pa., following a lingering illness, having visited here frequently, and from 1925-26 made her home with her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Armstrong when they resided on Hillcrest avenue.

The deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Edwin Pashley, at home, and Mrs. C. E. Armstrong, Neshannock boulevard, New Castle, and one son, Bert, at home. She was born in England, where she was married, and upon coming to this country, she and her husband settled in Pittsburgh where they had resided ever since. Her husband preceded her in death fifteen years ago.

Funeral services will be conducted from the McGinnis funeral home, on Forty-Sixth street and Butler avenue, Pittsburgh, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

David C. Ford.

David C. Ford, aged 76 years, father of Harry C. Ford of 909 North Mercer street, New Castle, assistant superintendent of the New Castle Works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company, died at 9 o'clock Saturday evening at his home in Dover, Ohio.

Mr. Ford was a well known retired Pennsylvania railroad conductor. He leaves besides the son in New Castle, another son, James G., at Dover, and three daughters, Mrs. Bessie Wendling and Mrs. D. M. Schaar of Dover, and Mrs. H. H. Millar, of New Philadelphia.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence in Dover at 2:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and interment will be made in Dover cemetery.

Thomas H. Purdy.

Thomas H. Purdy, aged 86, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. E. Gilliland, 221 South Mercer street, New Wilmington, Sunday morning following a lingering illness.

Mr. Purdy was born in Allegheny county, August 16, 1850, but most of his lifetime was spent in Beaver county, where he was a farmer for over 50 years. Since the death of his wife in 1929 he has made his home with his daughters in New Wilmington and Enon Valley.

He was an active member of the Beaver United Presbyterian church. Mr. Purdy leaves two daughters, Mrs. M. E. Gilliland, New Wilmington, and Mrs. J. H. McKean, Enon Valley. He also leaves ten grandchildren, Marjorie, Agnes, Dale, Ralph and Kathryn Gilliland of New Wilmington, Rev. Matthew M. Gilliland of New Bedford, and Helen, Purdy, Lois and Ruth McKean of Enon Valley, and one brother, A. J. Purdy, of Clinton, Pa.

Funeral services will be held from the J. T. Anderson funeral home in Beaver on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Dr. J. C. Fulton, pastor of the Beaver United Presbyterian church, in charge. Interment will be made in the Beaver cemetery.

Henry Bookings.
Henry Bookings, aged 84 years, died at 6 o'clock Sunday morning at Bessemer where he resided for 50 years. He was known by most everyone in the community and was held in high regard.

Mr. Bookings was born in Germany and came to this country when a young man. His wife, Virginia, preceded him in death 12 years ago. Surviving are two sons, George of Boardman, O., and William of Bessemer, and two daughters, Mrs. Kanangelser of Clarion, Pa., and Mrs. J. L. Weaver, at whose home in Bessemer he died. He was a member of the Hillsville M. E. church.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Weaver at Bessemer with Rev. Earl Engle in charge. Interment will be made in Hillsville cemetery.

Mrs. Lena Marshall.
Mrs. Lena Marshall, aged 84 years, died at 7:55 a. m. today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Tony Anthony, at Hillsville.

Mrs. Marshall was one of two women who were the first to leave their native land in Italy to join their husbands in Hillsville. That was 52 years ago this month.

Mrs. Marshall was a member of St. Lawrence church. She leaves two sons, Albert and Angelo Dominick Marshall, and two daughters, Mrs. Rocco Tirotta and Mrs. Anthony, all of Hillsville. There are also quite a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Her husband, Alphonse, died in 1917.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Frank Bogges Funeral.
Funeral rites for Frank Bogges, of Coraopolis, took place Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Jos. B. Leyde mortuary, with Rev. C. H. Hauger, pastor of the Croton avenue M. E. church, in charge.

Mrs. Charles Eddy and daughter, Clara, sang two beautiful numbers, "In The Garden," and "Jesus Saviour, Pilot Me," accompanied at the pipe organ by Mrs. Jay L. Reed.

Pallbearers were Russell Geary, Cal Garrett, Howard Kelly, Joseph Washburn, Ryal Gaffney, Mike Shuty, Mr. Cunningham and Mr. Oats. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

John H. DeWolf.
John H. DeWolf, aged 75 years, of 821 East Washington street, passed away at eight o'clock Sunday night in the Jameson Memorial hospital, ending a twelve-day illness.

Mr. DeWolf was born at Fowler, O. Thirty-eight years ago he came to New Castle and had resided here ever since. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and was one of the best known retired conductors of the Pennsylvania system. He had seen 45 years of active service.

His wife, Ida, died on July 26, 1934. Surviving are two sons, Earl D. DeWolf, of this city, and George E. DeWolf, of Detroit, Mich., and two grandchildren.

The body has been removed to the Darrell Burke funeral home, where funeral services will be conducted at one o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Interment will be made in Greendale cemetery, Meadville.

The family will be at Burke's Tuesday afternoon from 2:30 to 4:30 and Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 to meet friends when they call.

James Francis Henderson.
James Francis, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henderson, of 1805 East Washington street, died this morning at 2:35 a. m. in the Jameson Memorial hospital, as the result of an illness with pneumonia, of two weeks duration.

The boy leaves his parents, a little brother, Tommy, and his grandfather, Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Fisher, of New Castle, and Walter Henderson, of Fairmont, W. Va.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the residence.

John Brice Funeral.
High Requiem mass for the late John Aloysius Brice of 101 Milton street was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Leo Watterson at St. Mary's church this morning at 10 o'clock.

Pallbearers were: a nephew, Joseph Maloy; two sons, Francis and Ralph Brice, and three brothers, Charles, Neil and James Brice.

Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery, where Rev. Fr. William F. Galvin had charge of the committal service at the grave.

Children Are Buried.
Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, pastor, conducted services for little Patsy and Jenny Cappello, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patsy Cappello, of West Washington street extension, victims of a tragic fire in their home on Christmas eve, at St. Vitus church Saturday afternoon. Interment was made in St. Vitus cemetery.

J. H. Sheppard Funeral.
Funeral services for James H. Sheppard of Chicago, Ill., were conducted Saturday afternoon at the T. F. Roberts home, 16 Walnut avenue, with Harry D. Pitzer in charge. Pallbearers were Eugene Cunningham, Carl Munter, Joseph Bailey, Charles Dibley, Louis Cassella and Guy Triphonie. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

FRANCE PROPOSES NAVAL BLOCKADE OF SPANISH PORTS

British and French navies, under the suggested blockade, would take care of the seaports.

Britain Not Enthusiased
Britain, however, showed no enthusiasm for such a drastic step which it was feared might lead to the much-dreaded "incident" touching off a general European war.

Only if Germany herself approved the blockade as part of a general agreement to make non-intervention really effective would Britain lend her warships to the blockade plan, it was authoritatively stated.

Both France and the Soviets, therefore, will have the idea as one means of keeping the civil war confined to Spain when the non-intervention committee meets for that purpose Thursday.

French anger could hardly be suppressed today when it transpired that Hitler did not even intend to look at the Franco-British notes until after the holidays.

France, it was learned, informed Britain that she was no more willing to tolerate a German regime in Spain than Germany was willing to tolerate a Soviet regime there.

Italy is now swinging around to the same point of view. Gradually putting a stop to her own aid for the Spanish rebels and participating more actively in efforts to tighten up non-intervention, Italy looks askance at the reported prospect of seeing 20,000 German Nazi Troops almost in Italy's front doorway.

GASTON POST TO MEET TUESDAY EVE

Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, will meet Tuesday evening in the Legion Home, the meeting taking the place of the regular meeting which was to have been held last week, but which was postponed because of the Christmas holiday.

Several important matters will be up for discussion, Commander Dave Tobin stated today.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28—Almost every night for a week Louis Gicquelais, Hazelwood druggist, had been bothered by an unidentified person who called him by telephone and always mumbled "wrong number."

Last night there was no one home to answer. Today Gicquelais reported to police that somebody had entered a cellar window and escaped with loot valued at $300, including many Christmas gifts.

Dairy Leaders Are In Session

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—Fifty leaders of the dairy industry in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Vermont met here today with milk control officials, farm journal editors and other dairy experts to attempt to solve problems of the industry.

Plans for federal and state and joint federal and state control will be thoroughly discussed before the meeting ends tomorrow night or early Wednesday.

Wiser co-operation by milk production groups was the keynote of the opening speeches. Fred Seauer, president of the dairymen's league co-operative association, Inc., declared that milk control has "enhanced the dealers bargaining power over the producer."

Last week we wished everybody a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Christmas is over and we hope that everyone had a Merry Christmas.

The New Year will soon be here and we all have had a lot to be thankful for, but we must all join together in a determination to make 1937 a better year than 1936, not only in a financial way, but in a moral and social way. Those who preach, those who labor and those who serve should make an honest effort to preach better, labor better and serve better than they did in the past year, so that we may be a means of uplifting and helping the social conditions of this great country.

Some people are just starting into their life's work, others are in the midst of it, some have reached the peak and going down the other side, but each and every one of us can do something better than we did last year, as it is a well known fact that we can not stand still, we must either go forward or backward.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL

CHARITY BALL IS DISTINCT SUCCESS

Over 400 people attended the charity ball given Saturday evening in the New Castle Field club under the auspices of the Junior Guild of Jameson Memorial hospital, the affair being voted a distinct success.

The setting was gay and cheery, brilliantly lighted trees in the corners and big bows of red ribbon on the balcony rails, lending a festive touch. The orchestra was very good and from 9 till 1 played popular melodies and snappy hits. Tables for refreshments were decorated with smilax to lend other color to the Christmas setting.

Credit for the evening's success reflects upon the committee in charge: Mrs. Paul Jarvis, Mrs. John McIlwraith, Miss Margaret Brown, Miss Elizabeth Reis, Miss Jean Donnelly and Mrs. Norman Lockhart.

Junior Guild officers are: Mrs. Lauren Thayer, president; Mrs. Margaret Brown, treasurer; Mrs. R. W. Rowland, secretary.

MADAME RYAN RETURNS TO PITTSBURGH SUNDAY

Madame Charlotte Griffith Ryan of New York City, who appeared on the sacred concert program Sunday evening in the First Presbyterian church, returned to Pittsburgh late Sunday evening, where she is spending a few days at the home of her sister, Mrs. James A. Monteverdi (Mary Griffith).

She was accompanied to New Castle yesterday by Mrs. Monteverdi and a brother, Leo Griffith, both of Pittsburgh, and they registered at The Castleton.

Capsule Friend Club

Capsule friend club met for a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. A. Martone on West Cherry street, the event also celebrating the hostess' birthday. Cards were played in the living room which was decorated in festive colors with a brightly lighted tree in one corner. Gifts made by the hostess for each guest were found beneath.

After a delightfully prepared lunch had been served, gifts were exchanged. Mrs. D. Tomello assisted. The hostess received a number of lovely gifts, the door prize was won by Mrs. Torrell, and the guest of honor was Mrs. John Casanta.

In two weeks, the club will celebrate the second anniversary with a theatre party.

Drill Team Dinner

Daughters of Union Veterans drill team will have their annual Christmas dinner in the home of Mrs. Martha Fox, Butler avenue, Tuesday, Dec. 29, at 6:30.

West Side Needlecraft

West Side Needlecraft members will meet Tuesday evening with Mrs. Frank Hasson, 818 Carson street.

SHEAFFER-RILEY ENGAGEMENT NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Sheaffer of Court street announce the engagement of their daughter, Edna May, to John S. Riley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Riley, Sr., of the Wilmington road.

THRIFT LUNCHEON EVENT OF TUESDAY

Annual Hadassah thrift luncheon for the benefit of school luncheon service in Palestine, which members of the local chapter have been anticipating will take place Tuesday noon, December 29, in Tifereth Israel synagogue, South Jefferson street.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the chairman, Mrs. Jack Gold, Mrs. Leonard Reinhart, vice chairman, and her chief aide, Mrs. H. Waldman, to make this occasion memorable. Amongst those who have been enthusiastically assisting on the various committees are: Mrs. Jack Leiby, Mrs. R. Rubenson, Mrs. D. Moresky, Mrs. I. Grossman, Mrs. A. Fisher, Mrs. M. Slaven, Mrs. J. Cobb, Mrs. H. Pitnoff, Mrs. T. Alperin, Mrs. A. Katz, Mrs. Sam Levine, Mrs. M. Hirsch.

The program committee with Mrs. L. Sander chairman, is also enthusiastic about the program it has to offer for this third annual occasion. An original thrift lunch song has been written by Miss Frieda Shifman, and will be sung by Mrs. M. Slaven.

Mrs. Sigmond Braverman, of Cleveland, O., a well informed and inspirational speaker will be the guest of the afternoon. She will be heard in song and speech by her audience. Accompanying her on the piano in newest Palestinian songs will be Mrs. E. Kaplan.

Local rabbis, Norman Diamond and Pinchos Katz will also appear on the program, and there will be a clever reading by Jean Sander.

Christening Sunday

Mrs. A. J. Nader of 15 North Beaver street had her granddaughter, Joan Nora Thomas, baptised at St. Mary's church Sunday, December 27. The godmother was Mrs. Katherine Quiroz of Detroit, Mich., and the godfather Nassef A. Nader of Warren, O.

Previous to the christening, Mrs. Nader entertained 50 guests, relatives coming from Warren, O., Detroit, Flint, Mich., and Pittsburgh, together with many friends. Dinner was served after the baptism.

The new baby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Thomas of 15 North Beaver street.

Paglia-Ruozzo

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Paglia, 104 West Lutton street, of the engagement of their daughter Madeline to Frank Ruozzo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ruozzo, 20 North Wayne street.

BRIDAL COUPLE TO LIVE IN NEW CASTLE

Mr. and Mrs. Rees Flannery, whose marriage took place Christmas day, are expected to return to New Castle within the next day or two following a brief wedding trip. They will reside on the East Side.

The bride is the former Florence Carlberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carlberg, of Pleasantville, where the wedding took place Christmas morning at 10 o'clock, amid an attractive holiday setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dark blue crepe dress and carried a bouquet of red roses. In her hair was a spray of white flowers. Rev. V. L. Bloomquist, pastor of the M. E. church, at Pleasantville, officiated with the double ring ceremony before an assembly of immediate families and a few close friends.

Previous to the ceremony, Mrs. Donald Carlberg played a delightful piano accompaniment for the favorite song, "I Love You Truly," sung by Miss Gladys Fogle, of Pleasantville. As the bride descended the staircase, the lovely strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin were heard. There were no attendants.

For the wedding dinner following, there were covers for 17 guests including many from Detroit, Mich., New Castle and Pleasantville. From New Castle were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flannery, of Pearson street and Miss Levinna Stewart, East street.

The table was colorful with Christmas flowers, tall red tapers, and a three tiered wedding cake used for the centerpiece. Other decorations about the home were in seasonal tones accented by a brilliantly lighted Christmas tree, holly, candles, big red poinsettias, and hemlock branches.

The new Mrs. Flannery is well known in New Castle where she has resided for sometime while a teacher in the West Pittsburgh school. She is a graduate of Slippery Rock State Teachers college.

Mr. Flannery is also a Slippery Rock State Teachers college graduate, well known in Lawrence county where he has taught in different schools.

Notable Musical Program At First Presbyterian Church Sunday Night

Christmas season is a season of reunion, a time when sons and daughters come home, and the years that have passed since they left are forgotten. Sunday night, two of New Castle's musical daughters came home and for ninety minutes or more they sang for their old friends in a way that rolled back the years with the magic of melody.

Sue Harvard and Charlotte Griffith Ryan, two New Castle soloists who have scaled the musical heights presented a joint program of sacred music in the First Presbyterian church, while still another New Castle musician, Mrs. Elsa von Moltke Emery, added to the program with the wizardry of her violin. There have been many concerts in New Castle but the one on Sunday night had an appeal and a quality that was present in few of those held before. Two master singers and a violinist in a program of sacred music that sanctified the season and sent the tremendous crowd present home with a deeper feeling of the spiritual significance of the season.

Replaces Regular Service
The musical program replaced the regular evening service. In the First Presbyterian church, instead of a service of worship through the medium of a sermon it was a service of worship through the magic of song.

The service opened with an organ prelude by Thomas H. Webber playing "The Blessed Damozel" by Debussy. Rev. J. J. McIlwaine, pastor of the church read the scripture lesson and offered prayer and then announced the artists of the evening.

Mrs. Emery opened the program with an air on the "G" String by J. S. Bach. Later she followed with "Larghetto" by J. S. Svendsen. "Larghetto" (in E Flat) by E. Rhodes and "Traumerei" by R. Schumann. All of them numbers of exquisite beauty and all of them presented as only Mrs. Emery can.

The Soloists
Originally the program had been announced with Sue Harvard and Mrs. Emery. Early Sunday morning Miss Harvard was stricken with a head cold that robbed her of her voice. Fearing that she would be unable to sing at all she suggested that Charlotte Griffith Ryan be asked to replace her and Madame Ryan was finally located at the home of her brother in Pittsburgh. She readily agreed to come and in the meantime medical attention resulted in Miss Harvard's voice. As a result of them appearing in joint recital and the early cold that plagued Miss Harvard proved to be a blessing in disguise.

Madam Ryan appeared first, singing "These Are They" by Gaul, and "Oh, Divine Redeemer" by Gounod. Later she sang "The Prayer" by Mollet, "Come Unto Him" from the Messiah by Handel, and "Oh, Lord Most High" by Caesar Franck. The fact that she had but a few hours to prepare a program and rehearse made little difference to this glorious dramatic soprano that New Castle calls her own. The inspiration of the season was enhanced by the magnificent crowd, a crowd that seemed to call out all the magic that has marked her best work in the years she has been before the public.

Lovely Background

For the program the altar of First church was beautifully decorated. Hung on the false work of the organ was a picture of the Madonna and Child, framed in a cluster of smilax. Just below the picture was a bouquet of Madonna lilies and below that two silver pedestals on which were standing two huge lighted candles. Flanking this were two candelabras with seven burning candles in each, and draped at the bottom was a rich blue velvet. Fronting the pulpit were fronds of palms and ferns with the green living-ened by the brilliant red of poinsettias. All of the setting was lighted with concealed fixed lights. It was a picture of artistic arrangement.

Thomas H. Webber, organist of the First church, accompanied all of the artists.

MUSICAL EVENING FOLLOWS DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulton of Bartram avenue were hosts at a lovely party on Christmas for relatives and friends.

An elegant turkey dinner was served in the evening, followed by informal entertainment. The Four Harmonizers, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Fulton, Mrs. Emma Miller and Robert Gorst, sang several old fashioned song hits, including "Sweet Adeline".

Mr. Gorst, representing an old colored minister, gave a humorous lecture entitled "It Ain't Goin' Rain No Moan". Mrs. Laura Fulton, who is a harmonica artist, played dance melodies, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Anna Gorst, who also sang and played other popular music.

Mrs. Fulton wore a pale green crepe dress for her party and made a charming hostess. Gifts were exchanged and the group had a most enjoyable time.

Here's the Modern Way To Help END a Cold

The 3 Minute VapoRub Massage

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest, and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread it thick over the chest and cover with a warm cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once—two direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.
2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages of the nose, throat, and chest. This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation—eases the cough—helps break congestion.

During the night, VapoRub keeps right on working. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Avoids Risk of Stomach Upsets
This safe, external treatment cannot possibly upset the stomach, as constant internal "dosing" is so apt to do. It can be used freely, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

Big Business Ahead.
Lord Nuffield, John D. Rockefeller.
The Government Steps In.
Sing Sing.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE OLD TIME SPIRIT broke away the bounds of the last remnant impression of the depression years. The great boom to air travel, railroads and all forms of transportation during this Christmas period augurs great things for the coming year. Prosperity and optimism are the forerunners of this Christmas period to usher in the new year. Lord Nuffield, English, is a generous giver; his automobile manufacturing makes it possible. He gave $10,000,000 to the University of Oxford, has established a trust of $10,000,000 for his employees and has given $10,000,000 to the British government "to help the needy." His giving in the last 11 years amounts to about thirty-seven million dollars.

IF LORD NUFFIELD WERE to multiply his gifts by ten he would still be far from the giving record of our home-grown John D. Rockefeller; also he would be surprised to know how much prosperous Americans contribute to their government "for the needy," in the form of income tax.

THE GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA spent three days carefully investigating illegal coal mining and selling by idle workers, "bootlegging" property of coal corporations, selling more than 30 million dollars' worth of "stolen" coal each year. At the end of his investigation the governor "took action," but of a kind that will probably surprise mine owners.

He ordered the arrest of four executives of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, accusing them of involuntary manslaughter, in connection with a coal mine disaster three years ago that killed thirteen. The officials and company are accused of employing 85 men in a mine section on which only 75 could be legally employed. An explosion killed thirteen. Mine owners with grievances will think carefully before calling on Governor Earle again. These are radical days (?)

MAN WITH A HEADACHE
WELL, WHAT do you think of that? . . . Go to bed feeling fine, wake up with a bad headache. A terror, directly east of the right eye. What caused that, anyway? Why should a headache creep up on a fellow who's nearly all boys or very young men. Six of the 27 young ruffians, of assorted races and (Continued On Page Seven)

Well, get up and go about your business. A man must be strong, brave, uncomplaining, take the bitter with the sweet, the tail with the hide or whatever you call it. . . . Be philosophical, put up a bold and serene front. . . . Quote that poet who shouted that He was the master of his fate and captain of his soul. . . . Be a hero. . . . Very noble thoughts indeed, but they don't stop the headache. Get up, fellow, and exercise snappily, take a glass of orange juice, take a couple of little white pills, tell the family you feel fine. . . . Liars! . . . Eat your breakfast and go to work.

How's a man going to work when his poor head is splitting? . . . Well, that great poet. He was a physical wreck all his life and look at all the great poetry he turned out. . . . Yes, look at the poetry. And a fine lot of double distilled sarcasm, bitterness and venom it was. . . . Well, how about Sir Arthur Sullivan, the man who wrote the music for "The Mikado," and "Pinafore," and "Patience of Penzance"? He did all his loveliest work when he was sick, locked himself in a room and did his stuff. When he was well again he loafed, felt that healthy hours were too fine to be wasted on work. Well, what OF him? . . . Bet he didn't have headaches. Anyway, he was one of those geniuses. I'm not claiming to be that; I'm just a guy with a headache.

Let it go. Skip it! You go your way and I'll go mine. What do you care whether I've got a headache or not? I'm not asking for sympathy. Who said I was? . . . See me grin—and bear it. Yeah, yeah, that grin. What a horrible sight THAT was. But you say I'm looking the picture of health? All right. All right, that's what they ALWAYS say! . . . That's all the credit a fellow gets when he's suffering and trying to be brave. . . . Forget it, forget it.

A peace conference is like a prayer-meeting. The only people who will take part are the ones who don't need it much. The charge against war is not only that it kills so many people, but that it always kills the wrong ones.

Good Taste
By FRANCINE MARKEL

DEAR Miss Markel—I am going out of town to visit a school chum. It will be the first time I have ever been in her home and I would like to make a good impression. Could you give me some "do's and don'ts" for guests.

FRESHMAN CO-ED.
Ans er—To begin with, take along everything that you will need during your visit so that you will not be forced to borrow from your hostess.

In addition to the necessary wearing apparel, your luggage, should include all of the toilet articles that you will probably use during your visit. If it becomes necessary for you to borrow anything, be sure to return it in the condition in which it was received.

No matter how many or how few servants are in your hostess' household, be sure that you hang up all of your clothes and leave no odds and ends strewn about the bedroom assigned to you. When you are packing, see to it that you include everything you brought with you and thus save your hostess the unnecessary trouble of sending your forgotten effects to you.

Be pleasant at all times during your visit, showing an interest in any form of entertainment suggested whether you like it or not.

Take no sides in any family dispute.

Always be on time for meals. Should you know anyone in town, accept no invitation that does not include your hostess.

If there is a servant, tip her as generously as you can up to 50 cents overnight and $1 for a weekend. By all means write to your hostess a "bread and butter letter" within a day or two after you have returned home.

The World At A Glance

Child Labor Still Problem. No NRA Regulation In Force. Many Instances Are Cited.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist
SOME STRIKING facts concerning child labor have been made public very prosaically by the National Child Labor committee. Those facts seem buried. Here are a few lifted out of their context:

"Manufacturing and mercantile establishments are the industries against which child labor laws have been most extensively and stringently applied. In some states, even now, regulations govern only such occupations and do not touch children working in hotels, restaurants, garages, offices, etc." . . .

AFTER NRA
"From the Massachusetts Consumer's League came a report following the NRA decision, that a young girl was offered $5 a week on a sewing job working seven hours a day, provided she worked for one week without pay as an apprentice. The secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor reported that various industrial houses which had been closed during the NRA were starting out again with the new opportunity of exploiting child labor and mentioned a slipper firm in Fitchburg which was charged with reopening on a $4-a-week basis, using children operatives." . . .

IN AN EX-COAL BIN
"In New Jersey seven girls from 13 to 16 years old were found in August 1936, by inspectors of the New Jersey Labor Commission, sewing neckties in a narrow 7-12-foot space, formerly used as a coal bin, equipped with two sewing machines and two electric irons. One of the girls said she had earned 60 cents in three days while others said they made several dollars a week. The operator of the sweatshop reported she worked for a New York manufacturer."

"ESSENTIAL?"
Canneries have long been known as exploiters of child labor. Although they would seem to be in the same category as manufacturing establishments, in several states they are exempt from the child labor regulations applying to such industries, especially as to hours of work.

The perishable nature of the goods handled makes speed in this industry an essential, and uncomfortable and unhealthy working conditions seem to be excused as a necessary evil. Findings of repeated survey of child labor in this industry during the 20's by the federal children's bureau are borne out by conditions discovered by an investigator of the National Child Labor committee in the spring of 1935. After conferring with the officers of

THE HOLIDAYS

THIS genial, colorful season of man's calendar is so rich in possibilities that there scarcely is time enough to realize them. For weeks the approach of Christmas Day is watched, the advent becoming faster and faster as the last few days rush by. Then as the gay litter of the festival is swept away thoughts turn to the passing of the year and the coming of new opportunities.

That week between two events of significance is a week out of life. It is the time when parties make long nights and short days, a period for reaction, a space wherein the world is losing the ties of the months that are gone and planning a new year of activity and aspiration. Unconsciously men see in the revolution of the seasons an analogy with life itself and the eternal sentiment of the dying and the new-born colors the hours and challenges the thoughts.

Birthdays are hard to identify clearly, but the processing of Christmastides and New Year days stretches memorably away with a distinctness no other of the year's recurring events can match.

After the mellowness of Christmas, reflections on the passing time. After the munificence of the festival, the dedication to new labors. After the sweet leisure and devotion of the nativity, the girding for the tasks of life. Resolution fellows relaxation, and the two moods complement each other, and give that necessary contract which spells convictions.

It is a time when humanity permits its heart to speak it opens wide the door to high purpose. It is the twilight time when men find opportunity to gaze within and strike a moral balance which, hopefully, may serve the New Year.

TAKING STOCK
The first days of the new year are a period of anxiety in many business circles. The boss may step high on New Year's Eve, and sing out his 1937 greetings with a cheerful heart. But perhaps down in his boots, he is worrying about his annual inventory. Will there be some of the good old black ink to rejoice his heart, or must his year's results be recorded in sorrowful red?

One thing seems sure, that for most concerns the figures of 1936 will look better than those of 1935. The astonishing increase in holiday trade ought to carry many of them over into the top of an honest profit.

Usually when people work hard and intelligently and deal honestly, the fates of life seem to help them, and the returning tide of good times is cheering them on today.

ARTHUR BRISBANE PASSES ON

Arthur Brisbane is dead. Suddenly the great editor and educator of millions is called away, ending a sparkling literary career and leaving empty a place in this world which will never be filled.

The great commentator goes after fulfilling a life of great value to his fellow men, a life of love and bountiful devotion to his family and a life which contributed untold wisdom to this age. The newspaper world and the reading public salute him as he starts on that long journey into the unknown.

Arthur Brisbane was known to fame as the world's highest paid editor. What he was paid was nothing compared to what he gave from his towering intellect. For many years he was William Randolph Hearst's chief editor. He, for years, wrote a daily column called "Today," long a feature of The New Castle News, which was read by millions and which has always been the most-talked-of comment on the happenings of the day. His crisp, terse English sparkled with wisdom and smart conclusions which showed great depth, understanding and a firm grip on what was happening each day in this world.

Mr. Brisbane, in dictating his column, seldom used a reference book, clipping or notes. He dictated into a recording machine, rapidly, tersely and vigorously. His range encompassed everything from international affairs to some little piece of life's drama. He was 72 years old. He was born in Buffalo, N. Y., and was the son of Albert Brisbane, of whom he frequently spoke in his column. Once he said, "I am paid for doing badly what my father did well and paid for."

Arthur Brisbane was one of the best reporters in the world. He proved this in his youth and again showed his ability along this line in producing his column; each day. He covered the news the world over. He had many imitators. An interviewer once remarked to him that none had ever succeeded in imitating him. He smiled and replied: "Le style, c'est l'homme." ("The style is the man.")

To those who worked in the Hearst service with Mr. Brisbane, the death of this great editor will be a heavy and lasting loss. Young editors were encouraged to greater things by a word from him and editors of long standing were helped by his sound editorial advice and guidance. Personally, this man was one who won friends and who was a staunch friend.

The true test of sportsmanship is to be replaced by a pinch hitter and weep when he fails.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

INDISPENSABLE
It seems to be very popular for the national office seeker to rail at "Wall Street" and the New York Stock Exchange. Great applause and laughter greet the satire of the Demagogue when he assails publicly the "Monsters of Finance" collected about the great Exchange.

Possibly you are one of the people who view the Exchanges with something akin to suspicion and feel that they are of no importance to you and ought to be abolished because some people are known to lose money in them.

If that is so, here are some interesting figures: Listed and traded on the New York Stock Exchange are approximately 1,200 stock issues and 1,400 bond issues. The former have a market value of about $55,000,000,000 and the latter about $43,000,000,000. These stocks and bonds are the source of capital from which American industry builds plants, provides work, and opportunity and carries on operations.

About 15,000,000 Americans are direct owners of securities. The number who own them indirectly cannot be calculated, but it must embrace the bulk of the population. For example, every one of the owners of the nation's 39,000,000 savings accounts is an indirect security owner, his money, along with that of the other depositors has largely been invested in securities by the bank. And that is also true of the owners of the 63,000,000 insurance policies outstanding in the United States.

Superior Court Upholds Action Of Appointment

Uphold Right Of Attorney General Margiotti To Appoint Special Prosecution

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—The state superior court today upheld Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti's appointment of a special prosecutor in Fayette county.

The special prosecutor was appointed by the state's attorney general to replace District Attorney James A. Reilly, one of the 12 men indicted in the so-called "third degree" murder of Frank Monaghan, 64-year-old Uniontown hotel keeper. In the opinion, written by Judge J. E. Cunningham, the appellate court authorizes the special prosecutor to sign bills of indictment presented by the Fayette county grand jury, and orders the reinstatement of bills of indictment quashed by County Judge H. S. Dumbauld, and reverses the latter's ruling.

Archbishop Of Canterbury Has Changed "Tune"

Regrets Recent Attack Upon Former King Edward Abduction Of Thorne

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 28.—Return to the moral standards of the Victorian era was foreseen by many church leaders as pupils all over the country today took up the appeal of the Archbishop of Canterbury for a "recall to religion."

His own regret that he and the Archbishop of York had criticized former King Edward was clearly indicated when Canterbury recommended that "recent and vivid memories had now better be kept in silence."

The archbishop, primate of all England, made no reference to the abdication, but in a speech broadcast through much of the empire, he declared he was convinced that "there is an instinct of religion and sound morality in the common heart." God, he said, was not so much denied as "crowded out." In the abandonment of old standards of morality, the archbishop of Canterbury said, we see the loosening of the ties of marriage and of the restraint upon impulses of sex.

The pope is suffering, it was learned, are anterior sclerosis, edema, varicosis and a glandular urethral disorder. Partial paralysis has developed, and the pope suffers intense pain in his legs.

Members of the pope's official and private families have established a ceaseless vigil, so serious is his condition.

Paralysis Stationary.

Dr. Amanti Milani found the 79-year-old pontiff no better when he called this morning, and in a semi-official announcement he pronounced the pope's paralysis "stationary." Sleepless, the pope battled with pain in his leg, caused by varicose veins, until midnight, when he finally was able to drop off into an exhausted sleep.

Mass was said as usual in his bed-chamber, and the pope took holy communion. For breakfast he had only a cup of warm milk.

Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, who, as papal secretary of state issued the order bringing to a standstill the affairs of the church's governing bodies—the Roman congregations, the tribunals, and the offices of the Roman Curia—called on the pope for a few minutes.

He was followed by Pietro Cardinal Fumasoni Bonaldi, prefect of the congregation for propagation of the faith.

Extraordinary Circumstances. Authorities said suspension of church business, which has few precedents in the history of the Holy See, is taken only in extraordinary circumstances "such as imminence of the death of the pope."

The last occasion was in 1903 when Pope Leo XIII. was stricken with the illness that caused his death four months later.

One high church dignitary said Cardinal Pacelli's decree clearly indicated that the "formidable activity of the holy father is near its end." The pope is holding his own, it was said, with the aid of digalene, a powerful heart stimulant.

More than a week ago the pope has turned over nearly all his administrative duties to Cardinal Pacelli.

The congregation of cardinals, whose work has been suspended, was founded by Pope Sixtus V in 1588 to expedite administrative affairs.

REPORT FIGHTING ON FIVE FRONTS IN SPANISH WAR

terial, and two of her three passengers were Spanish rebel representatives returning to Spain from Germany's loyalists charged. Germany's assertion that the Palos was stopped outside Spanish territorial waters was denied.

Rebels Make Attacks

While still pressing their request in Berlin for two German army divisions, the rebels have opened large scale offensives on fronts far removed from Madrid for the first time in several weeks.

The rebel advance in Cordova province continues, Gen. De Llano announced, alleging that the loyalists are "committing all kinds of atrocities" as they retreat from successive victories.

An entire column of the famed "international brigade"—numbering several hundred—left volunteers chiefly from France and Poland, was annihilated in a battle at Montoro, 15 miles east of Cordova, according to the Seville broadcast.

All the internationalists were killed or captured, it was reported when, beaten off in an attack on Montoro, they fell back to Villa Del Rio, which they thought was unoccupied.

In the abandonment of old standards of morality, the archbishop of Canterbury said, we see the loosening of the ties of marriage and of the restraint upon impulses of sex.

A communiqué issued in Madrid said loyalist troops "attained all the objectives set by their set by their commanders in the Turacena (Guadalajara) sector."

"Objectives were also carried in the Madrid sector."

Government deserters, according to a rebel communiqué issued at Salamanca said fighting had broken out among troops within the government army. Fifty were killed in a veritable battle between rival marxist factions in Asturias province, the deserters were quoted as saying.

A counter attack by rebels repulsed a government onslaught on the Aragon front, the Salamanca statement added, and the enemy retreated, leaving a large number of dead and yielding many prisoners.

Five automobilists received tags, eight persons were arrested for drunkenness and one for drunkenness and disorderly conduct over the week-end, according to city police records.

Patrolman David Nelson was off duty yesterday on account of illness.

Police were sent to Terrace avenue on complaint that a dice game was in progress.

Resident of Whippo street reported Saturday that youths were throwing snowballs at her residence.

Police sought a man who was alleged to have tried to enter the Connors garage in Cochran way Sunday.

Berlin Traffic Center Closed

Fire In Subway May Have Weakened Street Is Belief Of Berlin Officials

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Dec. 28.—Pleading cave-ins, police today closed Potsdamer Platz, the capital's busiest traffic center, and barred big nearby buildings as the city ruefully viewed the smoky, water-guttered ruins of Berlin's pride and joy, the new subway system.

Sabotage was not believed responsible for the flames, which sent clouds of smoke high in the air above Potsdamer Platz while ministers Hermann Goering, Paul Goebbels and Wilhelm Frick looked on.

The new link to the "Untergrundbahn" was opened only in time for the Olympic games last summer. Earlier during its construction part of the tunnel collapsed near the American embassy, killing several workers.

Members of Juliette Lowe Girl Scout troop No. 3 held a party recently in the First Christian church. Under the direction of Maxine Mercer's patrol, games were enjoyed for which prizes were awarded to Ellen Waite, Shirley Hinebaugh, Evelyn Stoner and Kathryn Peters.

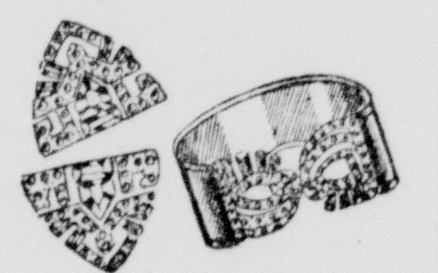

The decorations were made under the direction of the patrols led by Ellen Waite and Dawn Cartwright. The girls in the patrol in charge of Betty Jane Hinebaugh served delicious refreshments later in the evening.

Gifts were exchanged and the meeting was closed with a friend-circle and the singing of hymns. Mrs. Ethel Waite and Mrs. Covert were special guests of the troop.

Scribe, Marjorie Harris.

Young Roosevelt Planning Trip

Will Take Trip South After Being Released From Boston Hospital

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Dec. 28.—Twenty-five pounds thinner because of his month-long confinement with sinus trouble at Massachusetts General hospital, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., today was anxious to be away on his recuperative journey southward.

Buoyed by visits of his mother and his fiancée, Miss Ethel DuPont, munitions "betress, young Roosevelt has passed through the dangerous stage following an operation to relieve the sinus condition. He suffered several minor nasal hemorrhages, it was admitted by physicians, the last one on Christmas eve.

Dr. George L. Tobey, Jr., attending physician, said no more hemorrhages were expected.

Upon his release, expected in a few days, Franklin, Jr., will take a trip possibly to Bermuda or Nassau. Dr. Ross McIntyre, White House physician, will go along to keep a check on his condition.

Both Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss DuPont visited him

Councilmen Discuss Audit Of Books Of Former Solicitor

During council meeting at the City building today, City Controller Earl Wimer submitted to council a letter which was not received officially by instruction of Mayor Charles E. McGrath, in which Wimer referred to the audit now being conducted by Roy McMillen of the records and accounts of former Solicitor Robert White.

Mayor McGrath took exception to the wording of the letter, explaining that he is yet under the impression that Mr. Wimer is burdened with making the audit.

In reply Mr. Wimer explained that since taking office he had made the audit, but was not responsible for any audit previous to the time he took office.

Councilman B. F. Butler presented a motion which passed, in which the city solicitor was asked to render an opinion to council determining who should make the audit previous to Wimer's entry into City Hall.

Wimer's letter said that McMillen was now at a point in the audit where a partial report could be submitted relative only to the accounts covering paving, grading and sidewalk liens.

He said that it would be necessary to obtain from Mr. White duplicate copies of receipts which are the original entry, also daily cash books, cancelled checks and bank pass books which are now in Mr. White's possession. Wimer's letter said the present solicitor told him these records are the property of the city.

Councilman Joseph D. Alexander had the city clerk read a number of letters from Mr. White in which he advised the city officials that Wimer had checked his cash accounts for several years and found everything satisfactory, and that he stood ready at all times to assist the city.

Mr. White's letters also said that there are records of liens at the solicitor's office and stated he kept records of all receipts given out by him. He also said he had records of all checks, and added that he had offered to give whatever assistance he could in the audit.

He maintained that the records were his personal property, but offered to allow the city to send clerks to his office to copy them off, or would send them to the solicitor's office, providing the city made someone responsible for their safekeeping.

Mr. White also wrote that in the solicitor's office Mr. McMillen could check them or else he would be willing to turn over the records to either Miss Sarah Boyles or Miss Theresa Maher, attaches of the city solicitor's office, providing they were personally responsible for their custody.

The question of an audit came up in August. After some discussion before council, Wimer said it was physically impossible for him to make an audit of the books for the 12-year period from May, 1924, to May, 1936, and asked aid. Council then formally named McMillen to make the audit.

During council session today Solicitor Cobau did not say anything as to whose legal property the records are.

However, it was said by both Mayor McGrath and Controller Wimer that they did not wish it even inferred that there is anything wrong with any records or accounts of Mr. White.

May Ask Reopening Of Recent Decision On Milk Price Boost

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—A petition requesting the reopening of hearings into the Pennsylvania milk control board's decision to raise the price of milk in the Pittsburgh-New Castle district was to be presented today to executives of chain stores and milk distributors generally in the district.

Drawn up by a committee headed by R. R. King of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, the petition cites what is termed an "unfair spread" in the new price ratio and protests the price rise to 13 cents a quart for milk, the same being effective to both cash-and-carry and delivery customers.

The petition states that under the present milk order the farmer-producer will receive approximately $4 more per 1,000 quarts, while the consumer actually will be forced to pay $4 more for the same quantity of milk. Also cited in the petition is the allegation chain stores sell 44 per cent of the milk sold in the area and were included in the protesting group, as against a recent statement by a milk control board member of the group handled only 10 per cent of the volume of milk sold.

Contest Here Spurs Girl To Hollywood

Hazelwood Beauty Goes West Soon For Screen Test; Was "Miss Radiant"

A 22-year old Hazelwood, Pa., beauty who got her first Hollywood, beauty when she won a personality contest as "Miss Radiant" in New Castle last year will be heading for the cinema capital for a screen test after the first of the year.

Since the New Castle contest triumph, pretty La Mona Skelly has modeled fashions in Pittsburgh and New York and played in a short picture with Don Bestor, entitled, "Play, Don".

Miss Skelly uses the name of Marquette professionally and longs to be a Hepburn.

A note from a friend to Irene Rich, who helped the girl to make important contacts, and a three-hour chat with Dick Powell and his bride Joan Blondell, helped her find a place in Hollywood the first time she went out.

"Dick gave me a lot of pointers with regard to my coming screen test," she says, adding, "I want to do big things."

Miss Skelly chose the Hollywood career over marriage.

Kelso Promises To Watch Measure

James Kelso, county assemblyman, today informed council by letter that should the Ziesenheim real estate tax limitation amendment come before the legislature, he would be glad to communicate with the city.

My New York

By James Aswell

Copyright, 1936, Central Press Association
NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Not long ago I went backstage at "The Folies" to interview Miss Gypsy Rose Lee, the strip artist, in connection with newspaper-scribbling chore for another place.

When Gypsy was set upon, along with her gentleman friend and escort, at the entrance to her apartment and robbed of $30,000 in jewels there were many raised eyebrows and snickers. Was this just another publicity stunt in the ancient actress-and-her-stolen-gems motif? The Broadway boys were skeptical and so, at first, were the police.

But my grapevine had assured me that the detectives at headquarters were convinced Gypsy had been robbed in a thoroughgoing and bona fide manner. What I wanted was not so much to convince myself that this was so as to discover if possible what attitude the police were taking toward victims of an epidemic of similar holdups now sweeping the town.

Miss Lee told me that the authorities were doing everything possible to prevent a recurrence, for thieves have a habit of going for easy marks again and again. Unlike the grand dames of society, a respectable strip tease artist would never stoop to bedecking herself with paste imitations and the underworld knows this.

Indeed, the police were watching Miss Lee so closely, she said, that the surveillance was becoming a nuisance. She couldn't take a spin after the theater in her limousine without being followed by a car full of determined men. If she walked out with her dog a pair of sheepish looking plainclothesmen, hemming and hawing and nodding in her direction to one another, followed at a distance of several paces.

"I'm growing attached to those boys," she said. "Sometimes I invite them into my car when it starts to rain and they have been all set to follow me for a stroll on foot. One evening I invited a couple of young men who, I thought, were newly detailed to watch me but who turned out not to be detectives at all, but simply passersby. So what? So we went for a ride and a good time was had by all. But what's the diff? That's life."

Certainly Gypsy has been responsible for one constructive change in the set-up of New York's police machinery. Commissioner Valentine she tells me, has formed a new squad of personable young detectives, able to wear tuxedos nicely, who hang around the night clubs and when free spenders and their women companions, gleaming with jewels, attract the greedy glances of the mobsters, the well-dressed minions of the law watch developments.

Nevertheless robbery of homegoing and bejeweled merry-makers has increased apace. It is a difficult form of crime for the police to combat, and I am told that many of the furtive gentlemen who have been finding the going tough since repeal have diverted their energies into this field. One reason why the thugs like the work is that there is a general acceptance among potential victims of a non-resistant policy. At the first command, "Stick em up!" the ladies of the party start peeling off their valuables and tossing them to the robbers, intent only on escaping bodily harm and, if possible, too much publicity. Let the insurance companies worry.

But the other midnight a band of highwaymen picked the wrong victim, a French motor magnate, Emile Mathis by name, who was unfamiliar with the American custom of instantaneous surrender. When he was waylaid at the door to his hotel and his wife was ordered to hand over the considerable fortune in gems she wore, M. Mathis made a flying tackle at the leader of the gang while Mme. Mathis set upon another of the thieves. Soon M. Mathis had his antagonist rolling in the gutter and getting much the worst of the fray, and his wife was acquitting herself excellently. As soon as the highwaymen could disengage themselves they took to their heels.

Occurrences like these will do more to dampen the ardor of the gem-grabbing racket than all the plainclothesmen and all the gallant victims like Miss Lee.

BOY SCOUT BOARD TO MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Members of the executive board of the Lawrence County council, Boy Scouts of America, will gather in the Chamber of Commerce rooms for their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, December 29 at 7:45 o'clock.

AROUND CITY HALL

Two more councilmanic meetings remain before 1936 passes out and 1937 arrives. The sessions will be held today and Thursday. It is probable that before the New Year arrives, the city will have purchased a truck for the department of streets, bids having been opened some time ago. Several days ago council conferred informally in regard to the truck desired. It is not yet known if the civil service board will be in a position to certify a list of eligible policemen to council before 1937. Several members of the department are scheduled for retirement, it is reported.

Several days ago Mayor Charles E. McGrath expressed himself to the effect that no city employee should hold two positions. A man in this category should resign one or the other, the mayor stated.

Lifeboat which was mounted on wheels for transportation to rivers, creeks and other places in case of accident, was loaned to the Pennsylvania Power Company Saturday. The employees had to stretch some wires across a stream and the boat became useful to them.

Plumbers who have not taken out 1937 licenses should do so at once, according to Inspector Harold Dunlap. It was also stated by James Rae, sealer of weights and measures, that the same situation exists in regard to persons who sell coal.

religions—three of them under 21 years of age—surrounded a defenseless man, murdered him in cold blood to get a few dollars, all in subway nickels.

Governor Lehman of New York is urged to pardon the six murderers, some because they are young, some because they did not fire the fatal shot. The governor is told he ought not to pardon any murderer under twenty-one years of age because "I frankly see no difference in the guilt of the man who is 22, and one who is 20." The "big shot" gangsters hate men usually very young and well supplied with drugs to aid their killing for them. It would be too easy for these employers of killers if they could take boys from sixteen to twenty and guarantee them "in the first place they won't catch you, in the second place if they do, they can't execute you, we'll get you acquitted or get you out of jail."

Murder has become a "business" and businesslike murders must be made dangerous.

SUGGESTIONS FOR LLOYDS insurance. In the United States where some business is rather timid, accident insurance companies automatically terminate accident policies when the beneficiaries reach the age of seventy.

Yet, at that age, men are often safest from accidents. They stay at home, walk slowly, take few risks. The British Lloyds might find a good field in a selected list of United States citizens past seventy. This would be no hardship on American companies, since they do not want the business.

FRANCE FIGURES up a deficit of four thousand three hundred and thirty-six million francs; divide that by twenty-five and you find that it is just "chicken feed" in dollars. In this country, $133,000,000 is no deficit, only petty cash.

PERHAPS WHAT the human race really needs is to grow up. Dr. Baker, New York state's official psychiatrist, which means "mind expert," says that the average prisoner in Sing Sing is mentally 13½ years old, that the average prison guard is six months younger. He adds that if you "scopped up" 100 average adults in a big city, 85 of them would average a 14-year-old mentality, and that means the average 14-year-old.

MANY READERS HAVE WRITTEN to inquire about an alleged new and effective remedy for sinus trouble. Boston said this alleged remedy had been used with good results in the case of President Roosevelt's son. It is to be noted however that since then, the young man has undergone a surgical operation for sinus, said to have given great relief. This writer can only advise that no remedy be tried except on the advice of a competent doctor, first making sure that he is competent. The new remedy is supposed to destroy, in the blood stream, only one of the numerous streptococci, whereas sinus inflammation may be caused by any one of a number of germs.

MEXICO PLANS TO ESTABLISH 2,000 new primary public schools, in the coming year, having established 3,000 such schools in 1936.

Representatives of the Catholic church, which includes in its membership 95 per cent of Mexico's population, object strongly and officially to the kind of education alleged to be offered to Mexican children.

Saturday, but on school days only until 10 or 10:30 in the evening! "Three ten-year old children were found crocheting hats on the fire escape of a dilapidated tenement house," they said, "it took at least an hour to crochet one—an hourly wage of exactly five cents."

BEDSPREADS "Incidentally, in its injury into the lumber industry, the committee looked briefly into the serious problem of exploitation which has been growing up for a number of years past, especially in the south, in the making of candlewick bed-spreads in homes. This is accompanied by severe sweating of labor, the work of one person for a full day producing only 11 cents for the simplest tufted spreads. And great pressure is being used upon children to come in from play or to cause them to work even into the night on rush orders."

IN LUMBER CAMPS "In the outlying branches of the lumber industry (in the south) boys of 10 can be found engaged in lumber mills, pole peeling and even logging in the swamps and sand bogs. And it is not uncommon to see 14-year old boys at jobs that tax the strength of grown men."

THOUSANDS OF CASES The tale could go on indefinitely. For the full dramatic—and tragic—story write to the National Child Labor committee, 419 Fourth avenue, New York City, for its pamphlet, "Child Labor Facts—1937." The price is 25 cents. Some would title it, "America's Shame."

Incidentally, the child labor amendment to the constitution would become effective if ratified by merely 12 more states. But the powerful anti-child labor interests have won to date.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SUNDAY ABSENTEES CHIDED

IN THE SAME mail recently, I received a letter of commendation from a Sunday school superintendent on the west coast, and a letter of inquiry from a superintendent of public schools from the middle west. To quote from the former:

"For several years I've read your advice to parents and feel that I should tell you how very sound the suggestions and solutions you offer seem to be."

"Thanks for the word to Sunday school teachers. As a superintendent I've never been able to understand how people can assume such a responsibility and take it so lightly. . . . Times without number I've had to make excuses to children for pure negligence on the part of teachers, and attempt to save the children's faith in them. They can't seem to understand what their neglect means to the children, or else they don't care." She refers to the point I made that for Sunday school teachers to be habitually late was bad for the morals and morale of the children.

I agree also with your sticking with some of the older tenets of education, though many modern ones are excellent of course. This reasoning, explaining, and giving a choice, has its value, but I believe I did too much of it as a mother. A very young child simply doesn't have the basis of understanding to judge many situations wisely. Therefore, there should at times be expression of authority by those who are responsible. An effective expression in our family to youth going out for pleasure was, "Remember who you are!" We understood that the meaning was that our family had its standards and all of its members were expected to meet them. Wouldn't it be simple to direct youth in the "paths of righteousness" if there were not so many misguided adults cluttering up the roadway and interfering with progress?"

Wrote the superintendent of schools: "I recently read an excerpt from a speech of yours concerning Learning from the newspaper. The quotation stated that 'the time is coming when the newspaper will definitely serve as an indispensable supplementary textbook, if not a basic text, in science, geography, etc.'"

"This gave me the idea that something might be worked out as a master's thesis at the university, and I would appreciate any advice or information which you can give me."

Of course I told him all I knew about it, and shall look forward, with you, to the product of the investigation by this superintendent of schools.

McKeesport Mayor On Job 23 Years

McKEESPORT, Dec. 28.—George H. Lysle is this week celebrating his 23rd year as mayor of McKeesport. He is also celebrating his 70th birthday this week. Tonight the community of which he has been head man for so long will take charge of the celebrating. A banquet with 600 diners, largest ever held in McKeesport, will be the city's tribute to the only mayor it ever has had under the commission form of government.

During his long tenure of office, 1*

the World war, the gas boom, the flood, boom times and depression have come and gone with Mayor Lysle guiding the city through each phase of its troubles and triumphs. Speakers at the dinner will include Dr. E. E. Robb, the mayor's pastor at the Central Presbyterian church; the Rev. Thomas O. Rea, former pastor of St. Pius Catholic church; Miss Maude Woods, veteran teacher in the McKeesport schools, and A. M. Simon. Dr. J. C. Kelly is general chairman for the affair.

Building Being Razed Here Once Housed Old Foundry

Knobloch Building On South Mercer Street, Is Fast Being Demolished By Wreckers

Work of razing the Knobloch building on South Mercer street, at the corner of Lawrence, is going forward rapidly, and in a few days nothing will remain but the site of this structure, which has had its place in the building of New Castle.

When the canal boats plied the local streams it was the terminal where goods were unloaded and stored following shipment up the river, and where outgoing materials were also kept, awaiting shipment.

The canal boats were brought up the Neshannock by locks from the Shenango, the canal going on up to Pulaski.

After the canal was done away with through the development of the railroad, the building was used for different purposes, but for a long time housed the foundry of Quest & Shaw, and many an old-timer here can remember going there for small castings. It was familiarly known as Shaw's foundry.

The building was constructed of sun-baked bricks, which are rather soft, and it has not withstood the ravages of time and the usage of which it has been put by industry, so it is being demolished, being no longer safe.

Merchant Robbed For Fifth Time In Few Weeks

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—August Pensa, 30, a merchant in suburban Sharpsburg, who had already been robbed four times since Thanksgiving, was held up again today by two gunmen as he prepared to go to the market to buy produce and robbed of $723 in cash.

One of the men stood guard outside the Pensa fruit store while the other went inside and ordered the proprietor to hoist his hands. He went through Pensa's pockets and took the money.

"I was scared," Pensa said. "I didn't say a word. What could I say? I was afraid they'd shoot me. It's certainly a nice Christmas present."

Duke Of Windsor Sends Christmas Presents To 60,000

(International News Service)

VIENNA, Dec. 28.—The Duke of Windsor sent Christmas presents to 60,000 children of the impoverished mining areas in South Wales, it was believed here today.

The sending of gifts to the poor Welsh children evoked special interest because the duke a few weeks ago visited the region as king and made remarks about their welfare which were interpreted as a rebuff to the Baldwin government. He had said then "something would be done" for them.

This was taken then as perhaps undue interference in the government's work, but it was suggested today he might simply have made a decision to help them himself.

been received in Berlin to cause authorities to assume Bilbao officials were releasing the Palos to avoid action by German warships and planes, an action believed to have threatened in the Reich's official announcement of seizure of the little vessel off Spain's north coast last week.

Chancellor Hitler is ready to continue diplomatic negotiations regarding Spain, but he rejects any semblance of pressure upon the Reich as indicated in the German press campaign abroad.

Believe German Ships Enroute
"Diplomatic circles clung to the belief, despite firm and repeated official denials, that a score of German warships were speeding to Bilbao for a warning 'demonstration' against Spanish anarchists who seized the Palos.

The German press attacked as "shameless lies" reports Hitler was holding a "war council" in his mountain retreat at Berchtesgaden, although belief persisted in many foreign circles that extremely important decisions were being made or were to be made there within the next few days.

"If competent quarters abroad should be behind this fabrication, it would only prove in some places that London and Paris people have a bad conscience," said one newspaper. "If London and Paris are getting nervous and feel they must let off steam, why do they not deal with their own problems?"

Still Guarding Rogers Villa At Cannes, France

(International News Service)

CANNES, France, Dec. 28.—Police were still guarding the villa Lou Viei, where Mrs. Wallis Simpson is staying as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Herman I. Rogers of New York, today and a French secret police agent told International News Service:

"We have orders to remain as long as Mrs. Simpson does. We have heard she is likely to be here until the end of April."

WPA Projects At Work Again Today

All projects of the Works Progress Administration are functioning today according to J. Vale Downie, director of District 14. The projects will work until Thursday afternoon when they will again be down until the following Monday in observance of the New Year holiday.

LASSOES DUCK

(International News Service)

MUNICH.—Loud quacking attracted a policeman on his beat to a secluded pond in the Englischer Garten, Munich's Municipal park. He discovered a 16-year-old boy in the act of disentangling a lasso from the neck of an irate duck, which he had succeeded in capturing in true cowboy style.

Correct this sentence: "From now on," said the official, "most of the help will be given to the farmers who need it most."

MAY BE NEW YORK MAYORS' HOME
The Charles M. Schwab chateau

This beautiful chateau, the town home of Charles M. Schwab, and occupying an entire block on Riverside Drive, in New York, may become the official home for New York's mayors. The $4,000,000 estate is offered for sale to the city for that purpose. Schwab is said to have agreed to contribute $500,000 toward any organization purchasing it. The mansion, which was erected in 1905, is luxuriously furnished and contains many valuable objects of art. It has 75 rooms and 17 baths.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Great Britain and Japan today formally notified the United States government of their intention of invoking the "escalator" clause of the London Naval Treaty, in retaining cruiser and submarine tonnage scheduled for scrapping.

Great Britain, Washington was informed, will save five over-age cruisers from the scrap heap; Japan formally declared her intention of keeping in service 15,598 tons of submarines.

Continue Hunt For Missing Plane And Seven Persons

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 28.—A scant handful of ground searchers continued to plod through snow drifts today in search of the missing Western Air Express plane with seven persons aboard.

Heavy snowstorms which broke over the Wasatch mountains Sunday reduced the ceiling to zero, preventing aerial searchers from taking off, and buried deeper whatever clue might previously have remained to attract fliers to the site where the plane crashed.

REEHER-DRIPPS
A quiet wedding took place Thursday evening, December 24, at 8:30 o'clock at the Koppel M. E. church, when Marian A. Reehner of Wampum, Pa., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reehner, was united in marriage to Samuel Driggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Driggs of Koppel, Pa.

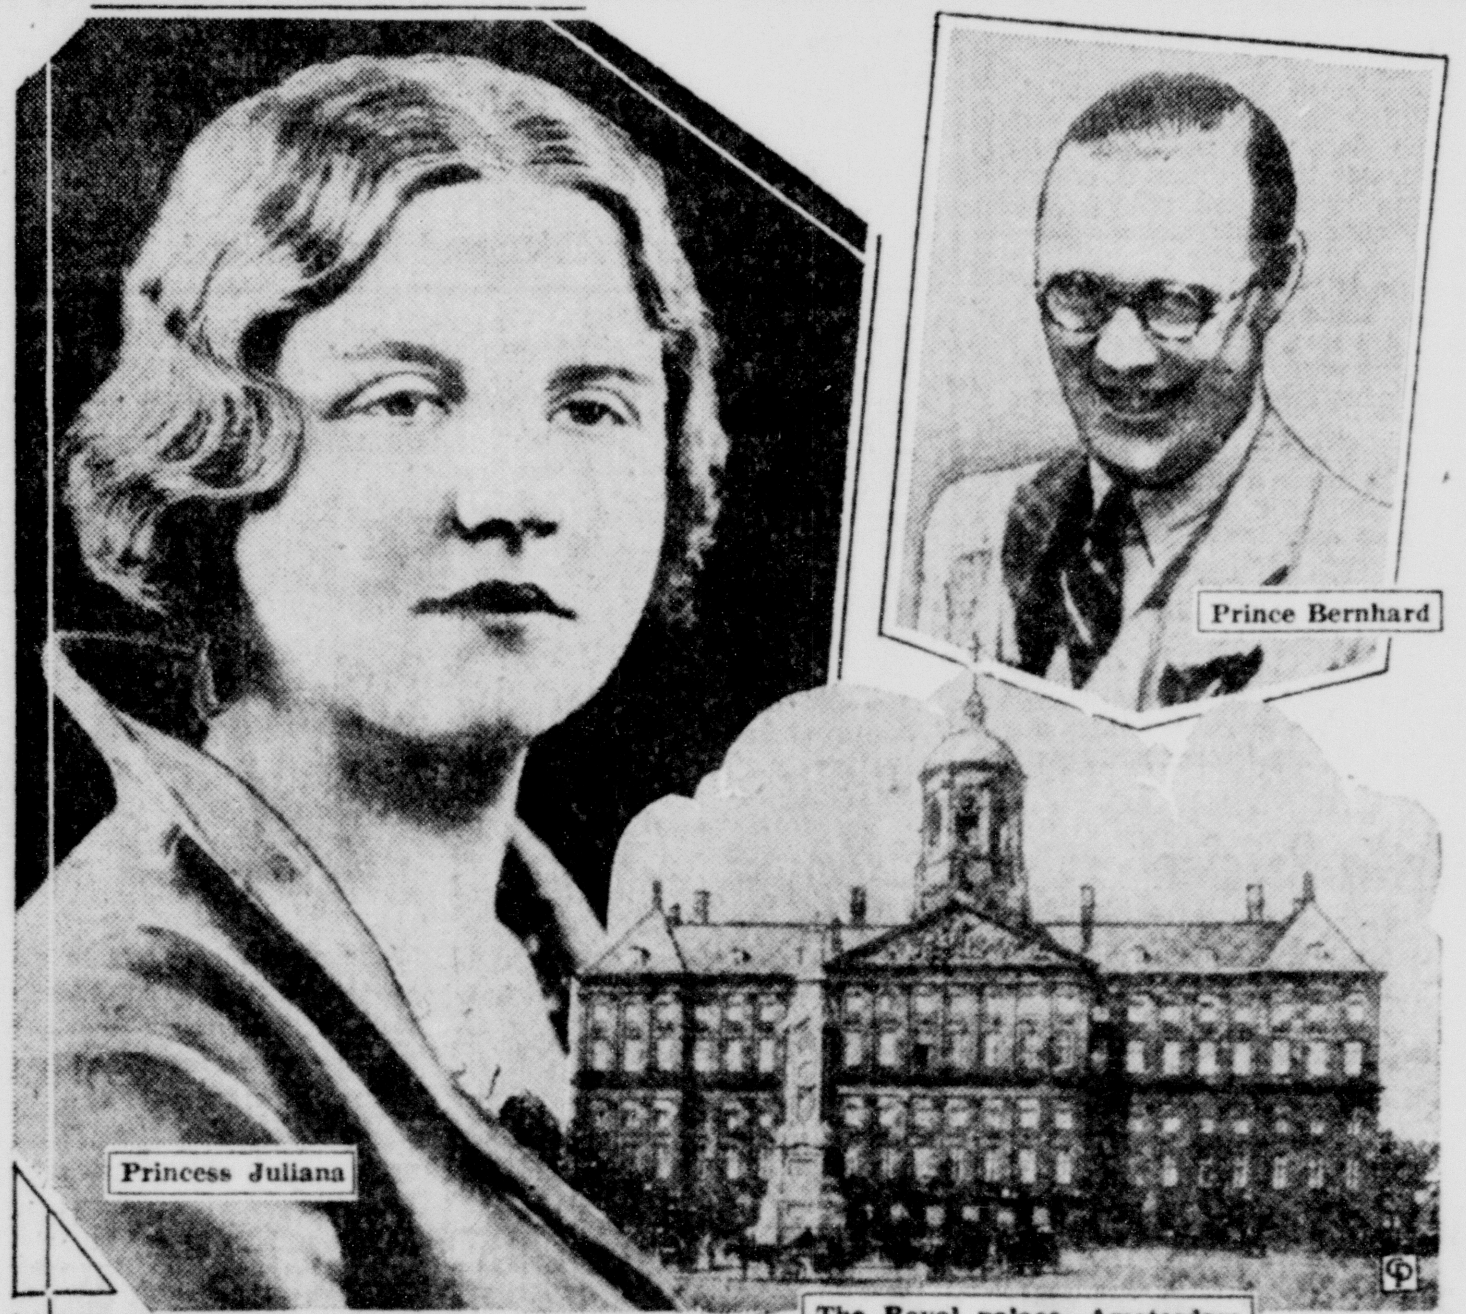

Rev. J. Parks of Beaver Falls officiated with the single ring ceremony. The bride's gown was yellow crepe, with cream colored roses at the neckline. The attendants were Miss Agnes Stegas of Koppel, John Driggs, brother of the groom, and the bride's father.

Following the wedding a delightful supper was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Driggs, 383 Second avenue, where the happy couple are now receiving their many friends.

RADIO FANS
(International News Service)
BERLIN.—Eskimos are great radio fans. An American explorer, a Berlin paper reports, has discovered that 30 per cent of the Eskimos regularly listen to Canadian and American broadcasts, especially of musical programs. He found the Eskimos were willing to exchange valuable furs for electric batteries for their radio sets.

The final proof of good citizenship is to buy some stock and then hope the government prevents another boom.

PRINCESS JULIANA BEGINS PRE-NUPTIAL CELEBRATIONS

Principals and the scene of the forthcoming royal wedding between Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, first-in-line to the throne held by her mother, Queen Wilhelmina, and Bernard Sur Lippe-Biesterfeld, German prince, are shown above. The wedding is to take place Jan. 7. The official "bridal fortnight" holiday already has started in towns and villages throughout the Netherlands. —Central Press

Boy, 13, Kills Pal, 10, in Fight Over Junk

In the closet at the left the body of Francis X. Laino, 10 years old, was found three months after he had been beaten to death by John Macari, 13 (inset), when the lads quarreled over disposition of lead piping they had torn out of an abandoned tenement house in the slums of New York's lower east side. At the right, the grief-stricken mother of the young slayer, who has nine other children, is being consoled by her husband. (Central Press)

Teetering on the Brink of Death

This dramatic picture, made on the roof of the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City, shows Maurice Nast (right) whom horror-stricken thousands watched for two hours while he threatened to leap to death. He was pulled from the narrow ledge on which he is standing, eighteen stories above the street, when Miss Diane Gregal, a stenographer, engaged him in talk and a fireman seized him from behind. AIR TRANSPORT WITH 12 ABOARD BEING HUNTED shortly after 7:36 o'clock when the last radio message was received from the transport, which was flying from San Francisco to Los Angeles.

Paul Wright, airport manager and three other aviation men left by automobile immediately for Simi. The missing plane reported at 7:36 p. m. that its radio was not functioning and then disappeared in the murky darkness following one of the worst storms of the season. Left San Francisco At 5:30 P. M.

It was estimated that the plane, which left San Francisco at 5:30 p. m., might have been near Castale, north of Saugus, when KBLA, the Union Air Terminal's control station received the last message from the pilot, asking that he be given a localized radio beam to help him reach the airport.

The transport has exhausted its gasoline supply and is down but whether at a small emergency airport, with no telephone facilities, or as a tangled mass of wreckage, was not known.

Aboard Plane
On the plane were:
Pilot Edwin W. Blom, 33, of Burbank, a veteran of the airways since 1918.

Co-pilot Robert McLean, Stewardess Yvonne Trego, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ford, Jr., of Pasadena, son and daughter-in-law of E. F. Ford, president of the Grace Lines Steamship Co.

Mrs. W. A. Newton, West Los Angeles. A. L. Markwell, Los Angeles diamond merchant.

H. S. Tesague, Los Angeles. Miss S. Valance, Los Angeles. John Korn, El Centro, Cal.

M. P. Hare, San Francisco business man. A. Novak.

At 7:09 p. m. Pilot Blom told his office the plane would arrive at the field at 7:37 o'clock seven minutes late. At the appointed time, with no plane in sight, the airport radioed Blom but received no answer.

At 7:36 the office station received the last message, which came on a day frequency, indicating Blom's night frequency transmitter was out of order, in which he asked for the localized beam.

This was taken to indicate that Blom believed himself close to the airport. The station's radio operator asked Blom for his position but received no reply.

Flying weather was reported reasonably good at the time Blom sent the last messages.

United Air Line officials directed the search in two areas—north of Saugus and south of Taft, over the rugged Tehachapi Mountains.

Several Small Fires Reported

Fire Threatens Mercer Street Block At Early Hour This Morning

Several small fires were reported here over the week end, the damage being small, although one fire this morning at 7:15, threatened the Wagner block at 19 North Mercer street, prompt discovery averting what might have been a serious blaze. Rubbish which had been placed near the furnace took fire and ignited the coal bin. The damage was negligible.

At 6:30 Saturday evening, firemen were called to the corner of Mill and Home street, where an auto owned by H. S. Barber and driven by Miss Dorothy R. Ramey, took fire at the floor boards. The damage was small.

At 5:50 Sunday evening, Fourth ward firemen were called to the Lehigh Cement company at 1030 Butler avenue, where a small shanty used to store tools, was found ablaze.

At 6:55 Sunday evening, an alarm from Box 54 summoned firemen to the home of Joseph Palombi, of 310 1/2 Home street, where someone had dropped a cigar into some clothes placed in the washing machine in the cellar. The blaze was extinguished before firemen arrived the loss being small.

Milk-Fed Bees New Experiment

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 29.—Milk fed bees may soon be producing the honey to spread on your breakfast rolls.

That's if bee-keepers find out the stingers can live on soy beans and powered skim milk, as reported today by Dr. Mykela H. Haydak, of the University of Minnesota, to the American Association for the advancement of science.

For pollen, the normal flower-dust food of bees, Dr. Haydak successfully substituted skim milk powder mixed with one of the following: soy bean flour, or meal, peanut meal, linseed meal or cottonseed meal.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Relief Problem Up To Congress

Must Decide Whether Relief Burden Will Rest On Federal Or State Shoulders

PROBLEM WILL BE DIFFICULT

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist
WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The 1937 session of congress will see no tougher fight than the one involved in the national administration's plan to turn a much larger share of the burden of work relief back from the federal government to local governments—state, county and municipal.

It may seem queer, in a way, that local communities should so much prefer to pass the relief load on to Uncle Sam rather than take care each of their own proportion of the whole country's need.

In the long run the bill must be funded by taxation anyway.

What difference does it make saying to a given city whether it pays directly to meet its domestic requirements or pays into a common fund, the entire republic's taxpayers, for indirect distribution by Uncle Samuel?

THE WAY OF IT

Either way the problem is looked at, the number of folk to be relieved is identical—whether they are considered as a national total or as 48 groups, by states, added altogether.

The summed-up cost would seem to be about the same, from whichever angle it is viewed.

Each locality, from the states on down, hopes to get more than its fair share of relief for less than its fair share of contributions into the federal "kitty."

NO CHANCE TO BE FAIR

In short, each state hopes to flim-flam the other 47 states, proportionately, as to population. And each county and city hopes similarly to flim-flam all other communities in like proportion.

The administration has sense enough to see through this psychology.

Ditto a good many senators and some representatives.

The legislators' difficulty is that, however economically astute they may be, the instant they undertake to be logical, their home folk turn the "heat" on them.

There is an element of sound reasoning in the home folk's attitude, too.

Suppose (if imagination does stretch that far) a community does want to be fair; all other communities will take just that much, or more, advantage of it. In self-defense it has to be hogish.

FEDERAL ADVANTAGE

In one respect, it is true, the federal government has the better of local administration.

It prints its own money.
Nominally it borrows it. In reality, however, it creates it. In much as it wants within national limitations, which have not been approached yet. State and lesser governments can't do this; they can exhaust their credit. So can the federal government, but it has not been a probability in recent years.

Local governments are in a position to say to the federal government:

"Well, YOU can borrow; we can't keep it up indefinitely."

However, federal borrowings mean subsequent federal taxation.

FEDERAL TAXES "EASIER"

Even federal taxation, in general, is less irritating than local taxation.

The federal income tax is pretty aggravating, to be sure; and so are such levies as the undistributed profits tax. But these imposts do not affect a considerable number of folk.

Local taxes are what fret the multitude—

Taxes on your home: school taxes; sales taxes, that make the price of a package of cigarettes ridiculous.

These are the taxes that local authority wants to sidestep.

They are too obvious. Local authority hates them.

Passing them on to Uncle Sam is simpler.

Sligo, Irish Free State, has to elect new collectors before it can collect taxes, the first election having been declared invalid.

Kris Fails To Stir 'Sleeping Beauty'

Family Holds Yule Party At Bedside Of Child In Coma 15 Months

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 28.—A regular Christmas party was held at the bedside of three-year-old Maxine Yarrington.

Her mother and father were there and her four older brothers and sisters stood in a circle at the foot of the bed. A little Christmas tree, trimmed with tinsel and lighted with colored lights, stood in a corner.

There were presents too, more than a score of them, sent by residents of Erie and surrounding towns. There were toys that would delight the heart of any three-year-old girl.

But little Maxine, although her blue eyes were wide open, showed not the slightest interest in her surroundings. It was just another day of sleep to her. She is a victim of sleeping sickness, and even a visit from Santa Claus could not rouse her from the coma into which she lapsed September 24, 1935.

After her many presents were opened, the Yarrington family carefully rewrapped them and returned to their Fairview home, eight miles away, to spend another Christmas without Maxine.

The presents, like other gifts sent to the little "sleeping beauty," will be carefully stored away until the time she awakens from her long sleep—if ever.

Doctors at St. Vincent's Hospital, where little Maxine is confined, can give no hope that she ever will awaken. All their efforts to rouse her have been futile; science has not yet found a remedy for her condition.

Maxine is normal for a child of her age. She weighs 45 pounds, her cheeks are rosy, and to look at her one might think she is awake. But, although her eyes are open, she sees nothing.

Maxine is fed regularly, although she is not aware of it. At mealtime, nurses steady her body to feed her soups and soft foods. Dr. Norbert Cannon, her physician, visits her three times a week.

Four or five times a week, Maxine's father, a WPA worker, and her mother, visit her at the hospital, each time with a forlorn hope that the child will awaken and be allowed to join her brother and sisters at home.

Martha Session Wins Eighth Prize

Hobart Street Miss A Winner
In New Castle Tin Mill Contest

In the past two weeks 'The News has published the first seven winners of the essay contest staged by the New Castle Works of the Carnegie-Steel Corporation on the visit through the New Castle Works on October 28. The eighth and last prize was won by Miss Martha Session of No. 4 Hobart street. Her essay follows:

WHAT I SAW ON MY TRIP THROUGH THE TIN MILL

When I first entered the mill, I came to the hot mill where I saw men removing hot plate from the furnace. The tinning department was my next entrance. There I saw men assorting the tin plate. Going a little farther, I saw the pickling department. Men were dipping the tin plate into an acid solution. After leaving the pickling department, I came to the cold rollers department.
I saw tin being rolled into a smooth sheet as milk cans and others. Before this process, the tin was cut around the edges, so that it would be even. Next I entered the engine, tool and pipe house. Last of all I went to the display room. In it were various products that had to use tin cans as containers. It gave me a great pleasure to interview such interesting divisions of labor.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulson in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulson aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists of Beechwood Creomulson and they rank Creomulson top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulson, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble.

Creomulson is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, colds and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulson and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle.

Don't worry through another sleep-

PENNEY'S
J. C. PENNEY COMPANY, Incorporated

On Court House Hill

Judgment for want of appearances have been granted by Judge James A. Chambers in the following cases: Lawrence Savings and Trust company against H. L. Whiteman, H. L. Stewart and Adaleon Stewart; Mary E. Caldwell against Paul N. Grannis; Lawrence Savings and Trust company against Smith and McQuiston.

Judge George H. Rowley of Mercer county, will be here tomorrow to hear arguments in some cases in which Judge W. Walter Brahm was interested before being elected judge.

J. F. Perelman has filed a writ in replevin against Chief Sunlight, Indian medicine man, to secure possession of a radio, a couple of wrist watches and a diamond scarf pin.

Chief Sunlight and Princess Sunlight were good customers of Sunlight houses before they landed in the county jail for practicing medicine without a license, and had the reputation of making their payments.

Under the will of the late Florence McKnight of Hickory township, which has been admitted to probate at the register and recorder's office, decedent leaves her property as executrix.

The county commissioners are interested in having a bill, rebating interest and penalties on delinquent taxes, passed at the coming session of the state legislature. The bill would be similar to two other bills which have been passed, the provisions of which have now expired.

A new bill along the same lines, was discussed at a recent convention of the county commissioners. It was unanimously approved, so that there is little question but that another opportunity will be given tax-payors to clear up their delinquencies, less penalties and interest.

The former bills made provision for payments over a five year period, and it is likely that the bill to be introduced will do the same. Lawrence county, as well as others, took in a large amount of money in delinquent taxes under the former bills. There are still large amounts on the delinquent books. With employment increasing there is every reason to believe that taxpayers will make special efforts to clear up their arrearages if another extension of the bill is made. It should be taken up at the very beginning of the session, as taxpayers will no doubt hold back on paying delinquent taxes, until some final disposition is made of the bill.

According to the late trial list issued by Prothonotary John A. Edgar, there are now seventy-six attorneys practicing at the Lawrence county bar. This is the largest number ever practicing here at one time, and either indicates that the law business is getting good or becoming overcrowded, possibly both.

Whether or not the county commissioners will take into consideration the erection of an addition to the court house in making up the 1937 budget has not been determined. Action of recent grand juries has been somewhat confusing. Some have recommended the acquisition of the Boyles property, and others, the erection of an addition to the existing court house.

There is considerable that can be said for both propositions. An addition built to the present court house would be more convenient, and could be more easily heated. It would also be a comparatively easy matter to connect up the plumbing.

If the Boyles property were purchased, the county would have ample parking space for all cars, but it is a question if the county would be justified in buying property for parking purposes, although there is no question but that it would be very convenient to have.

Again it would require considerable of an outlay to remodel the Boyles house for office purposes. It would be a considerable distance from the central heating plant. Some claim the money that it would cost to buy the property, would go a long way toward building an addition to the present structure. At any rate the two propositions are something to talk about.

Ten sessions of common pleas court are scheduled for the coming year according to a calendar prepared by Prothonotary John A. Edgar. They will convene on January 11; January 18; February 15; April 5; April 12, April 26; October 11, October 18, and November 8. The grand juries will meet on March 1, June 7, September 13 and December 6. Quarter sessions court will be convened on March 8-15; June 14-21; September 20-27; December 13-20. Supreme court return days, March 29, and the first Monday of October. Superior court return days, third Monday of April. Naturalization court will be held during the first week of each term of quarter sessions court, and on the first Monday of each intermediate month, excepting in July and August.

GETS HEARING TOMORROW

John Vrobel, held on a charge of assault and battery placed by his wife, Mrs. Josephine Vrobel, will be given a hearing before Alderman Wallace J. Ewing on Tuesday.

SAYS PITTSBURGH
NOW BECOMING MUSIC CENTER

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—Industrial Pittsburgh is coming into its own as—and it's hard to believe—an American music center.

That was the assertion here of Dr. Serge Koussevitzky, famed Russian conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra, who visited Pittsburgh with his organization.

"In my first season in this country, 12 years ago," Dr. Koussevitzky said, "Pittsburgh was just beginning to develop. In the last few years, through your splendid musical organizations, the musical growth has been both amazing and magnificent."

Everybody does. For more than half a century her benign face above that high-pleated collar has looked down from the shelf of practically every drug store in America. For more than half a century her name has been a household word and women have been telling their neighbors what her Vegetable Compound has done for them.

They can't ALL be wrong. This medicine MUST be good.

There are three critical periods in a woman's life -- when the girl matures to womanhood, when a woman gives birth to her children, and the Change of Life. At these periods Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proves its worth. It is also excellent for nervous, rundown housewives... tired business women... weak young girls ... and irritable mothers. It quiets quivering nerves, induces restful sleep and helps Nature to restore a normal condition of health and energy.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION RIPPER REPORTED

Administration Seeks Control

"Fair Rate" Board May Be Sought To Replace State Public Service Commission

SCOPE OF BOARD MAY BE EXTENDED

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Dec. 28.—The administration, it was learned on reliable authority today, is planning to rip out the public service commission and place in its stead a so-called fair rate board to bring about more stringent regulation of public utilities and lower rates. The board, it was learned, would be created by the 1937 general assembly which would grant it broad regulatory powers that will invade the securities field. It was indicated that administration leaders also plan to place under the board's control the natural gas industry, and inaugurate the "sliding scale" system of establishing rates, besides considering the feasibility of declaring gasoline and oil public utilities.

Earle Seeks Control
The present commission consists of six Republicans and one Democrat, Thomas C. Buchanan, who was appointed to succeed the late commissioner Samuel Walker. The posts pay $10,000 each annually. Under the present set-up, Governor Earle would never gain control of the commission during his term of office. Only two terms on that body expire between now and 1938; those of Herman J. Goldberg, whose term expires next July and that of S. Ray Shelby, ending in 1938.

Recent months have seen the public service commission in a flurry of activity, concluding "informal negotiations" with utilities and announcing new rate reductions almost week-by-week. Power, electric light and telephone companies have been among those slashing rates. The "ripper" had been long rumored, talked of on Capitol Hill in a manner that finally brought a statement from Governor Earle that a final decision would rest upon the commission's own record.

Chang To Remain Chinese Dictator

Deny T. V. Soong To Replace Him — See Pressure From Japan

(International News Service) NANKING, Dec. 28.—Pressure from Japan today was seen behind an authoritative government denial that T. V. Soong, protagonist of a stronger anti-Japanese policy, would replace Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek as premier of China. Generalissimo Chiang, whose release by Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang after two weeks' imprisonment was expected to result in vigorous action against Japanese "aggression," will remain as president of the council and head of the army, a position that makes him virtual dictator—it was stated.

All Marshal Chang's captives have now been released, and the "young marshal" will be "let off lightly," authorities said. Latest to be freed were General Chiang-Tso-Ping, minister of the interior, and General Chen Chang, assistant minister of war. Both flew to Loyang from Sianfu.

Daring Robbery Occurs In Sharon

Jewelry Store Window Smashed And Looted In View Of Church Goers

SHARON, Dec. 28.—Disregarding a score of people on their way home from church, two armed thieves on Sunday broke a window in the Wengler jewelry store, West State street, and escaped with diamond rings and watches valued at $500. Each of the robbers was armed with a hammer. They left their companion in their car at the curb, dashed to the window, shattered the glass and scooped everything within reach into their pockets. Chris Sotus, proprietor of a soda grill next door, was threatened with death by one of the bandits when he rushed out of his place upon hearing the crash of glass, but he was not harmed.

The proprietor of the store, Frank Wengler, and Miss Georgina Flynn, principal of the Lafayette avenue school and spare-time bookkeeper at the store, were working at the rear of the store. Wengler obtained his revolver and hurried to the street, but the robbers had turned into a side street and were out of sight before he was able to open fire on them.

This was the fifth robbery of the same store in eight years, and the second in a month. All the others were at night.

Byrd's Helper To Wed Meadville Girl

Erie Youth Will Marry Girl He Wooed During Two Arctic Expeditions

MEADVILLE, Pa., Dec. 28.—Paul Siple, Boy Scout member of Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition, will be married Tuesday to Ruth Johannesmeyer, the girl he wooed with radiograms, while on two expeditions with Byrd. Siple met Miss Johannesmeyer at Allegheny college, where both were students. They will be married in Ford Chapel on the college campus, in a ceremony conducted by the Reverend E. M. Gearhart, Erie, Siple's home.

Siple is a graduate in biology at Clark University, Worcester, Mass. He was named the outstanding scout in the United States and picked by Admiral Byrd to accompany his first expedition to Little America. On the second trip he was chief biologist.

Miss Johannesmeyer is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Johannesmeyer, Meadville. Following the wedding the couple will live in Worcester, Mass.

Stolen Chicken Returned To Home

(Special To The News) MERCER, Dec. 28.—The influence of the Christmas holiday made itself evident in the penitence of the thief who stole the chicken secured for the dinner of the John Chadderton Jr., family living here on South Erie street.

The family suffered the loss of the fowl carried in a bag during the time their car was parked in Sharpsville the evening of December 23. The morning of the following day the bag containing the same fowl was found on the doorstep of the home.

The family cannot account for the occurrence except in the fact that the thief recognized the owner when they returned to their car in Sharpsville and made restitution.

366 Days of Progress promise a New Year of even greater public service

The Railroads of Pennsylvania thank you for helping with this Forward March

THE PUBLIC at large... industry... and the railroads that serve both, are woven into an inseparable fabric of mutual dependence. When one prospers, all prosper.

For this reason the railroads serving Pennsylvania are happy to report the great forward strides in service, in economic benefits, in employment that have taken place during the year just closed.

Riding along with the general upswing in business, the railroads of your state have earned additional revenues during 1936... and this money has been put to work.

It has gone out to thousands of employees—improving services for passengers and shippers, starting the wheels in hundreds of mills that supply equipment and materials to keep trains moving. Thus returning prosperity bestows its benefits on the citizens of our commonwealth.

On and on goes the march toward better times for the railroads, for industry, for everybody. No one factor, no one group has made all this progress possible.

Our sincere thanks—

- ...to our employees for their tireless devotion to duty in all phases of railroad operation
- ...to the public for confidence in the safe, swift, dependable transportation we have been able to provide
- ...to industry for entrusting us with the responsibility of moving its products economically, safely, and on time
- ...to public officials and especially to state legislators for their foresight and wisdom in not shackling the railroads with seriously damaging restrictions such as Excess Crew bills, train-length limitations, and other proposals that serve no useful purpose but instead, increase rail costs, reduce traffic and reduce employment

...to those within our own ranks who have perfected ways of running safer and faster trains so that low costs and improved service in rail transportation can go hand in hand

...to all of these and to many others who have performed a useful public service—again sincere thanks.

Barring unnatural or unforeseen obstacles 1937 should bring a wider distribution of prosperity and new activity wherever the wheels of industry turn.

RECOVERY IS ON THE WAY—LET'S NOT STOP IT!
Let's keep the track clear of unwise and ill-considered legislation which would discourage the initiative and destroy the progress that have put the railroads in the vanguard of the march toward better times.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE 1936 ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE RAILROADS WHICH SERVE PENNSYLVANIA

Total number employees Jan. 1, 1936	330,110
Total number employees Dec. 15, 1936	363,000

Max Schmeling Is Rated Above Jim Braddock

Ring Experts Rate Schmeling First And Joe Louis As Tops Of Challengers

CHAMPION JIM IS OVERLOOKED

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Being heavyweight champion is beginning to mean less and less to James J. Braddock, who had expected affluence that customarily accompanies the title, along with the honor of being ranked as the best fighter in the world for the time being.

James J. hasn't caught up with a great deal of money so far, and can't even get himself listed as No. 1 man for whatever good might come of it. In fact, he is slipping all the time.

In the annual copyrighted ratings published by "Ring" magazine today, Max Schmeling is placed on top all by himself. Joe Louis heads group No. 2, which includes Braddock. A year ago, Louis was placed on top and Braddock was ranked second.

Braddock Inactive

The rankings, based on a consensus of leading experts in this country and abroad, takes into consideration the fact that Braddock was inactive. Schmeling was placed on top because he knocked out Louis and the latter was given the next spot because he knocked out Jack Sharkey, Al Ettore, Jorge Brescia and Eddie Simms in a comeback.

While it is true Braddock did not fight, neither did he get knocked out and from that viewpoint he didn't seem to get any of the best of it in the balloting. However, he did get one break. They might have placed him down in the next group, in which case he would find himself mixed up with such sterling gladiators as Gunnar Barlund, Arturo Godoy and others of that caliber.

All-Star State Sandlot Teams To Be Selected

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—Forty-eight all star state sandlot baseball teams will be selected in the coming year to compete for a $5,000 cash prize at the National Semi-Baseball tournament to be held at Wichita, Kas., August 13 to 25. Honus Wagner, old-time Pirate star and high commissioner of semi-pro baseball, announced here today.

Pitt Freshies Here Tuesday

Preliminary Game At 7:30 O'Clock At Washington High Gym Floor

New Castle high "Red Hurricane" basketball team will play the Pitt Freshies basketball team here Tuesday night at the Washington high floor. The preliminary game starts at 7:30 o'clock.

The locals with three straight victories under their belts will try to make it four straight by upsetting the college boys. Jimmy Shaffer, former New Castle high star, is a member of the Pitt Freshman team this year.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh has had the boys out for practice several times during the holidays and has kept them in the pink of condition.

Gersons-Saks And Keystone Win Loop Games

Defeat House-Seniors, Tin Mill And Castletons In House Indus Loop

Gersons basketball team came through with a stunning 22 to 14 defeat of the Tin Mill quintet, Saturday night in the House-Indus league at the Y. M. C. A. floor. Russ Kawa with 12 points, was high scorer for the Gersons. Jackie Lewellyn had five of the points. For the Tinners the work of Neyman and Hitchens was the best, with four points apiece.

The Keystone A. C. under Coach Andy "Early" Venditto, took a close one from the House Seniors 24 to 21, with Teplica and Nickle Genock doing the bulk of the scoring. Robinson and Steve Teplica led the attack for the House-Seniors' team.

In the third game the Sak Big Five topped the Castleton team 28 to 10 with Saz Levin and Adams doing the bulk of the scoring with six points apiece. Kirkwood was the best for the losers.

Welker Cochrane Three Cushion Champ

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—For the third time in four years, Welker Cochrane won the three cushion championship in 1936 to take top honors among the billiardists.

The San Francisco master emerged victor and champion in the Chicago tournament after one of the most spirited battles the game has seen.

Cochrane won two straight matches, beating Johnny Layton and Matsuyama, the diminutive Japanese, to send the tournament into playoff among himself, Matsuyama and Tiff Denton.

James Caras supplanted Erwin Rudolph as pocket champion and Edmond Soussa retained the amateur crown.

Jake Schafer retained the 182 crown without a defense.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

They tell me the old Hard Rock from Down Under is living the soft life now...in a little stone and stucco house on a knoll looking out over the warm ocean at Miami Beach. Tom Heeneey has settled to spend the rest of his life in peace...a ship that has been through many storms and finds finally a quiet haven.

Tom spends a lot of time in a rocking chair on the front porch, looking out over the sea...the Rock is married, has been for eight years...his big interest is the home he built and loves...and he operates a cafe on one of the main stems...he never smokes...seldom drinks.

Whenever Charley Harvey is in Florida, he drops in to see Thomas...Old Jeeminy Ginger brought them back to the days of Tom Sharkey, Jim Jeffries, and others of tremendous stamina...plenty of blood was spilled that night...both men were terribly cut up...they called it a draw, and that's just about what it was, but Paulino came back later to win a ten-rounder from Tummas.

After he lost to Tumney, eight years ago, Tom wasn't much shucks as a fighter...he tried a comeback in 1931, but Max Baer knocked him out in three heats and Johnny Retzlaff's right caught up with him in seven...it was time to quit.

Tom never won much in the ring...by no stretch of the imagination can he be ranked a great fighter...but he had a great heart...he stayed in there with the best of them...there is something likeable about a lad like Tom...no wonder Charley Harvey fell so hard for the Rock.

Nonpareil Club League Matches Are Interesting

Marlins Under Eckles Win First Place In Shoot, At McDonnald, O., Tonight

Nonpareil Rifle inter-club matches are proving quite interesting, according to Karl Rohrer, secretary of the club today. Another match of this nature will be staged on Tuesday night at the range. The shoot will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Tonight the Nonpareil club will go to McDonnald, Ohio for a Penn-Ohio league match. Anyone not having transportation can call Karl Rohrer at 8086-R6.

Zivic And Conn Battle Tonight

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—Fritzie Zivic and Billy Conn, both of Pittsburgh, step into the ring tonight to decide who's the better man in a match ballyhooed for weeks as the most outstanding "natural" of the year.

Conn will probably have about a 10-pound weight advantage over Zivic and also holds the longest reach but Zivic's longer ring experience is a sure bet to help him in any squalls.

N. C. A. A. Opens Annual Sessions

National Collegiate Amateur Association In New York For Discussions

FOOTBALL RULES COMMITTEE MEETS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Some of this country's most distinguished wind-bags are assembled here today from all sections of the land for a series of amateur athletic conventions, held here annually for the ostensible purpose of determining what will not be done in connection with something that doesn't matter. Briefly, I mean that the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the College Physical Education Association, the American Football Coaches Association, etc., are in the process of holding their 1936 meetings and the wind resistance is terrific.

In fact, if they all stopped talking too suddenly, everybody would misjudge the velocity and fall down.

It's a great spot for any "pop off" person who, with an alert eye for the headlines, can and often does arise to state, with violence that football is a greater menace to American life than galloping consumption. In fact, you get the idea that a galloping halfback is unwholesome, by contrast.

Committees To Meet

It all started with secret practice last night behind locked gates, with the N. C. A. A. holding an executive session. Today, there'll be committee meetings and a luncheon of the Sportsman's Brotherhood at which a great many trivial things will be said in very earnest manner.

Tomorrow, the convention will be formally opened with Major John L. Griffith, president, addressing the assembly.

"Are intercollegiate athletics to remain amateur?" is one of the questions listed on the program for discussion. "The problem of intercollegiate athletics in a small college," is another, with Prof. C. E. Bilheimer, of Gettysburg, doing the propounding. The first question would seem to have been answered long since by the old bromide about an amateur being a man who won't accept a check.

Meanwhile, the rest of the antics will go on as usual. The football officials this time are demanding more money. Next time, it may be less hours, owing to the fact that the game cuts into their Saturday afternoons.

Football Rules

The football rules committee chairman will read a report in which he declares that the game is well nigh perfect as it is. Then, two months hence, he and his colleagues will go down to Abasco, N. J., and like as not, come back with something that resembles the old fashioned schottisch. Incidentally, there seems to be some agitation to have the sport writing profession represented on the rules committee, which ought to be good. Anything to help the general hilarity.

It'll be all over by Wednesday evening, by which time we'll all be ready to go back home and turn our attention to something important.

P. S. The estimated cost in transportation, hotel rooms, meeting rooms, meal and wine "tabs," etc., is only $10,000.

Eleven Regattas In Florida Loop

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Eleven regattas, the largest number in several years, have been scheduled on the Florida winter motor boat racing circuit, it was announced today by Charles P. Chapman, racing commission secretary of the American Power Boat association. The tentative schedule was submitted to Chapman by the Florida Yacht Racing association for official approval.

Opening at Cocoa during a mid-week celebration on January 27-28 the "Citrus Circuit" regatta carries through for ten consecutive week-ends, winding up at Palatka, April 3-4. Jacksonville, St. Petersburg, Tampa, Bradenton, Lakeland, Palm Beach, New Smyrna, Miami Beach and Deland are other dates on the schedule.

The Oil City Wolf's Head Oil team came here Sunday afternoon and handed the Polish Falcons their first defeat of the 1936-37 season at the Falcon floor, 23 to 16. At the half the visitors led 11 to 8.

The Oil Cityans had Russ Kawa, the great Falcon forward, all bottled up and he got but one field goal. Koszela and Kwolek led the scoring for the losers. The winners the work of Scott, Bellinger and Tucker was by far the best.

Nickle Uram is asked to call the Falcon hall, 9122, between 5 and 7 p. m. any day.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

Saturday night was the high night of the year, as far as the social inclined of New Castle were concerned. The charity ball was a huge success and everyone attending had a fine time. Some of the good boys only get out once or twice a year and they were sure enjoying themselves. A few of the popular college group were there, including Dr. Paul, he sure knows how to pick the good looking gals.

Still celebrating their engagement were G. Ward Whittaker and Esther Clare Wallace. Romance is what we like to see.

If you are craving California weather, just dismiss the idea. If you were to compare the weather you would find it a whole lot cooler in Dear old Hollywood than in Dear old New Castle. It seems they are having a little rain for a change, so they decided to send us some of their hot air. The easterner only knows how much hot air is in California.

To those from New Castle who are enjoying the rain in Hollywood and San Diego I wish you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year. Rain or no rain I would sure like to be in California next week-end. What a game that will be.

I use to have a very dear friend in Youngstown that has a very dear friend attending school in Europe. I take this opportunity to wish him all the success in the coming year.

Don't forget the little classified ad on this page. They might save you many dollars. Read them every night.

Tone Is FirmTrading Resumed After Three-Day Holiday And Market Turns FirmBy LESLIE GOULD International News Service Financial WriterNEW YORK, Dec. 28.—A firm tone prevailed in the stock market today, as trading was resumed after the three-day Christmas holiday.
Oils and some rails led the upswing, which was fairly widespread but resulted in gains that were generally of small proportions. Trading was only moderately active.The petroleum section responded to talk of a boost in crude oil prices for next month, although there was some disagreement as to the extent of the mark-up. Consolidated Oil was a low-priced feature, creeping up into new high ground for the year in active dealings. Standard of California, Texas Corp. and Stanford of Jersey were well above previous closings, the latter spurring a point.Best performers in rails were At-chafon and Union Pacific, each up about a point. They were closely followed by N. Y. Central, Chesapeake & Ohio and Southern Pacific.
Motors, coppers and steels, while ruling generally higher, were comparatively quiet through the forenoon.There was a scattering of minus signs through the list, particularly in mail orders and mining shares.
Both Montgomery Ward and Sears
Roebuck lost large fractions.
Utilities, aviation and alcohols were steady to slightly higher.
Bonds were mostly improved.
Grains were strong, with wheat at new season's highs. Cotton also was firm.STOCK PRICES

Pre-Season ContestELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 28.—Ellwood City High Wolverines will play their final pre-season game Tuesday night when they will invade Campbell, O., for a battle at the high school floor.The locals have won two and lost two in their first four games against tough college Freshmen or Reserve teams. In his first year at the helm Coach Jerry Newton has uncovered a clicking combination that shows promise of being in the thick of the Section 3 battle. The locals are a small, fast and exceptionally versatile quintet. Coach Newton has not relaxed his drillings and work-outs since defeating the Slippery Rock College Reserves a week ago.
After Christmas eve and day off they were back at work last Saturday and this morning.
The combination likely to start tomorrow night will have Captain Elmer Hauserman and Joe Greco at the forwards, Jim Planagan center, Geirge Ungham and Laird Dau-

Junior Saxon LeagueELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 28.—After winning four straight games Ell-wood's representatives in the boys' division of the Junior Saxon league lost the fifth encounter to a hard-fighting Youngstown quintet, 36-23, at the Lincoln gymnasium Saturday night.Inability to stop Halt and Goeble, stellar guards of the visitors, meant defeat for the home team. Between them they scored 24 points, 14 and 10 respectively. Zikell and Segedi accounted for nearly all of Ellwood's markers with 12 and nine points.
The girls lost the short preliminary dispute because they were unable to score in the last quarter when Youngstown went ahead to win 15-13.

Uses For Waste
In Rice CropIndications That Straw Will Become More Valuable Than Grain(International News Service)
NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 28.—
"Throw away the grain and sell the straw" may soon be the slogan of the rice farmers and millers of this area, according to preliminary results of a study of the rice industry made by the All-South Development Council.While growers and millers in the South consider plans for the marketing of the 1936 bumper rice crop, largest since 1920, the organic chemist is discovering new uses for its waste products that may eventually make them infinitely more valuable than the crop itself, the report reveals.Finding profitable uses for the approximately 465 per cent of the crop that to date has served little or no useful purpose has long captured the imagination of the chemist. It is predicted that rice straw, hulls, polish, bran and other waste materials will be used in the processing of synthetic silk, water-proofing material for airplanes, shatterproof glass, and many other items, the report states.An indication of the potential importance of these previously nonprofitable materials is contained in the statement that if only one-half of the year's crop of straw and hulls were to be converted to paper pulp Louisiana and Texas farmers would create new wealth to the amazing total of $980,944,000—approximately 25 times the value of the record-breaking 1936 rice crop.

From Little Rock

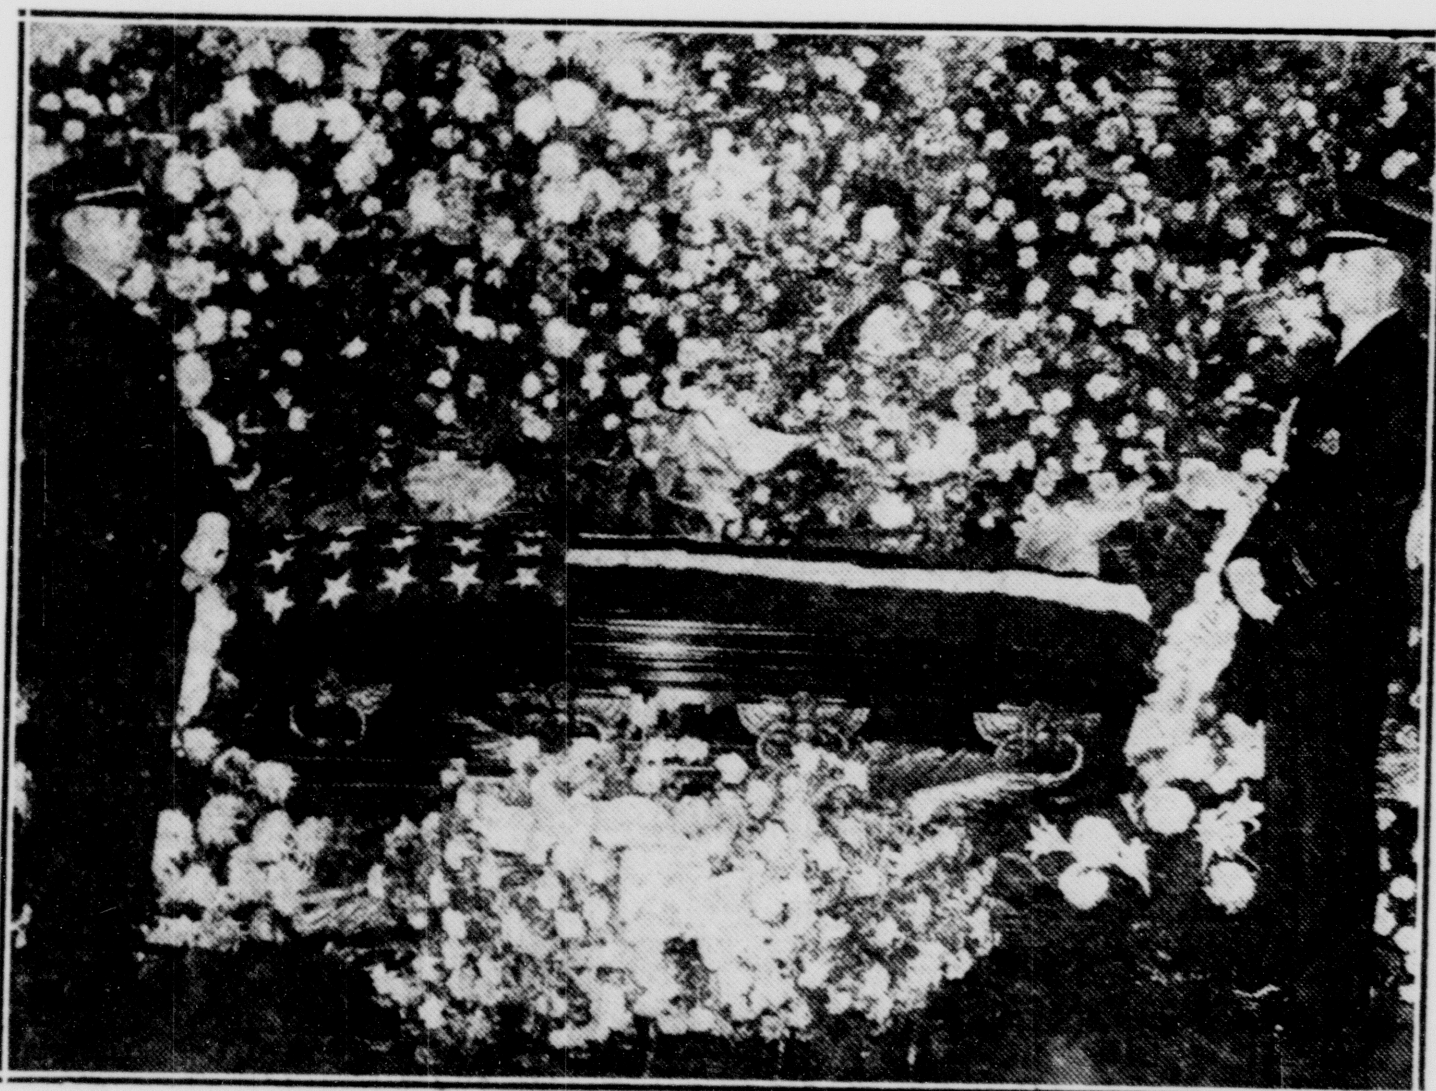

(International News Service)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 28.—
Because of a superstition in Callender, Ontario, that has gained world wide attention, the city of Little Rock this week sent the Dionne Quintuplets probably one of the strangest and oddest gifts the Quints have or ever will receive.The gift, which was airmailed to Canada, was made up of five small chips from the "Petite Roche" from which the city of Little Rock received its name. The chips were set into small, pure gold fasteners with a fine gold chain attached, making five attractive little lockets for the world's most famous babies.
Superstitious folk visiting Callender are said to believe that two pebbles from the ground in front of the Quint's home will mean twins, three triplets, four quadruplets, and five quintuplets.Because of this superstition, it is believed the gift of the five small chips will be one of the most appreciated by the young Dionnes.

AIR RAID PLANS

(International News Service)
ANKARA.—Destruction of tens of thousands of wooden houses, the issuing of gas-masks and the mobilization of civilians in the event of a raid are among the plans being made by the Turkish Government as preparation against attack from the air.

The Capital Says Goodbye to Gus Gennerich

Gus Gennerich, former New York City policeman and for some years bodyguard to President Roosevelt, died of a heart attack in Buenos Aires, where he had gone with the President. His body was brought back to America on the Indianapolis, and lay in state in the East Room of the White House, guarded by members
